Holland Asserts Military Operations In Java About
Ended Now

SEE DEFIANCE
TO ORDER OF U. N.

(BULLETIN)

PARIS, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Holland said today its military operations in Java "have practically reached an end" and Russia termed the Dutch statement "a bald refusal" to obey the United Nations cease-fire order.

The Dutch Netherlands delegate Dr. J. H. Van Royen and Soviet representative Jacob Malik made their statements before the U. N. Security Council in Paris as it again took up the Indonesian situation.

After a brief debate the council recessed to study the latest U. N. report from Indonesia which sharply criticized Netherlands action as violating the truce between Holland and the Indonesian republic.

To Establish Government
Dr. J. H. Van Royen, of the Netherlands said that Dutch authorities plan to establish as soon as possible an interim federal government for the East Indies which will represent all Indonesian factions.

General elections will follow for selection of a constitutional body which in turn will create a sovereign United States of Indonesia.

Van Royen said that Holland has released fourteen prominent Indonesian Republican leaders who had been arrested in Batavia.

He promised full freedom for Republican leaders in future constitutional discussions regardless of whether they may now be under arrest.

The council ended a brief Christmas recess to consider two wars that continue in defiance of its orders.

New Castle and Lawrence County got the white Christmas that was forecast. Snow flurries occurred during the day at frequent intervals and the weather was cold enough that the ground remained covered with snow.

Outside of a few minor accidents and small fires, New Castle and Lawrence County passed the holiday period without any serious accidents.

Sunday night appeared to be touring night for New Castle residents, when the city was toured for observance of the holiday lighting in the residential districts.

Skating ponds in the area were frozen over solid enough for skating over the holiday week-end, Pa News noted.

Two Sailors Are Removed From Wreck

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 27.—(INS)—A Coast Guard Cutter today removed two sailors from a shattered Argentine tanker off the North Carolina coast and said that all 18 seamen aboard the ship now have been rescued.

The remaining two men were taken aboard the Cutter Agassiz after they bobbed helplessly on the stern of the tanker which broke in half during a storm Sunday.

The stern of the tanker, "El Capitan," is being towed to Norfolk by another Coast Guard Cutter, the Cherokee.

Sixteen seamen were rescued from the bow section of the tanker last night by the Cherokee which then headed out to sea in an attempt to find the other sailors.

The severed stern was driven more than 30 miles out to sea from the scene of the accident when it was sighted last 60 miles off Cape Hatteras.

Dutch Forces Push Warfare In East Indies

Press Land And Air Warfare
In Java And Sumatra
Despite U. N. Action

BATAVIA, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Dutch forces pressed land and air warfare in Java and Sumatra today, ignoring the Security Council's demand for an immediate cease fire.

An official communique claimed new Netherlands victories over the native Indonesian Republicans in east and west Java. The communique also admitted that three Dutch planes have been lost in the fighting.

Meanwhile, the Dutch rejected the truce terms framed by a government in-exile set up by the Indonesians, and the natives were reported planning a bitter-end guerrilla war, based on "scorched earth" tactics.

In Paris, the Security Council prepared to meet to consider the Netherlands' defiance of its cease-fire orders.

After a cabinet meeting in The Hague yesterday, a spokesman said that the Dutch stand on the council's orders will be made known at the council meeting today.

Storms Slow Speed Of Aircraft Carrier On Way To Rescue Fliers

ABOARD U. S. S. SAIPAN, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The aircraft carrier Saipan, damaged by 60-mile-an-hour gales, plowed through the storm-tossed North Atlantic at reduced speed today in its race to rescue 12 American fliers from a Greenland icecap.

Heavy weather first encountered 200 miles off Cape Cod continued without a let-up and there indications that it may become even worse.

A gale which raged for more than 12 hours swept a third of the big carriers' liferafts and radio antennas into the angry seas and slightly buckled several hull plates.

Compartment on the starboard side of the 14,500-ton ship were flooded and a motor whale boat was swamped and put out of service.

Capt. Joseph L. Kane ordered the ships' speed reduced to 20 knots from the 27-knot pace at which it had been booming along since it left Norfolk, Saturday on its mercy mission. He said he was "pushing the ship a little harder than I like."

Rescue Efforts Hampered
Bad weather over the icecap continued to hamper army rescue attempts, and a new effort to get the men off by plane was postponed yesterday.

Summer Welles Gains Slightly

Suffering Heart
Attack

LIES ON GROUND
FOR SEVERAL HOURS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Summer Welles showed "continued improvement" today in his fight for life. The former under-secretary of state, victim of a heart attack, was found half frozen and near death Sunday in a field near his Maryland estate.

Dr. George R. Huffman, Welles' personal physician, announced shortly before 10 a. m. (EST) that "Mr. Welles' condition continues to improve. Our main problem is the effect of the exposure he suffered during the hours he lay unconscious. His condition remains serious, but there has been heartening progress since yesterday."

Removed from Oxygen Tent
The physician added that Welles has been removed from the oxygen tent in which he was placed after being rushed to a Washington hospital.

The 56-year-old ex-diplomat, stricken while out for a midnight walk, was discovered by a farm family early Sunday morning. His clothing sheathed in ice, he had lain in 15-degree cold for nearly seven hours.

Mrs. Welles is keeping vigil at her husband's bedside.

Expect Truce To Be Arranged Soon In China

"Surprise Revelation" Of Truce For War-Torn China Believed In Making

REPORT TRUCE IS IN NEGOTIATION
(BULLETIN)

NANKING, Dec. 27.—(INS)—A "surprise revelation" of a truce for war-torn China was expected soon by semi-official sources in Nanking today.

These sources said that preliminary negotiations were under way by key men in Premier Sun Fo's new government looking toward peace with the Communists.

The negotiations came in the wake of continued Red victories, the latest of which was in Kailash, sealing off the vast north-west area of China and Mongolia.

Advances Almost To Yangtze
Earlier the Reds advanced almost to the banks of the Yangtze river in the heart of China and closed in for the kill on Peiping and Tientsin in the government's toehold in North China.

However, optimism that the fight would be carried on was voiced today by Wu Te-Chen, vice premier and foreign minister in the new Chinese cabinet.

Wu told a press conference that the government wants peace—but that the Nationalists will continue fighting until the Communists agree "to protect freedom and promote the national welfare."

He declared that China's foreign policy will not be changed even though she receives no more American aid. He emphasized that the policy of the new cabinet would be Premier Sun Fo's previously announced intention to "fight on until we can secure an honorable peace."

Futility Of Further Warfare
Nevertheless many Nationalist leaders were reported convinced of the futility of further warfare after United States Ambassador Leighton Stuart told them that America "will not and can not" extend further aid to the Chiang Kai-Shek government.

This news was said to have persuaded top Nationalists that the government would inevitably collapse from economic strain and lack of military supplies.

Japan Must Reach Self-Supporting Status Is Warning

TOKYO, Dec. 27.—(INS)—One of Gen. MacArthur's top economic advisors declared today that Japan must realize a self-supporting economy "at the earliest possible date."

Dr. Sherwood Fine, newly returned from five weeks of conferences in Washington, said that the United States government was determined that Japan should achieve economic self-sufficiency through increased exports.

Dr. Fine warned that Japan must show "more satisfactory" efforts to reach stabilization or they will jeopardize prospects of further American aid.

Ah me, here's another one over, another grand Christmas day past, and it seems every year they get better, each one is tops to the last. The tree has its usual beauty, the floor is bespattered with stuff, hankies and candles and letion for shaves, and go for the hands that get rough. No toys, for the kids are beyond that, and even the dog got his share of dog food and feed trays and one rubber mouse, as for me I did better than fair. But it's over again but the memory will last as the months slip away and we look for another just one year from now, it's cold and just thirty today.

In Washington that attempts will be made to land a ski-equipped transport plane on a plywood runway fashioned by the marooned men. Strips of plywood had been dropped on the 7,700-foot icecap previously.

(The Air Force also said that two C-82s, "flying boxcars", one equipped with a glider and the other carrying a dismantled Cessna light aircraft which will be put together and possibly used in a rescue attempt, have arrived at Goose Bay, Labrador.

Balchen on Way
(Col. Bernt Balchen also is scheduled to arrive at the Air Force base at Narsarsuaq, Greenland, today to aid in the rescue. He took off Sunday from Ladd, Alaska, where he is commander of an Arctic rescue squadron.)

Capt. Kane originally expected to arrive off Greenland Wednesday, but the slow-down in speed may force a change in the schedule. The skipper said that he plans to launch the Saipan's rescue helicopters when the ship is about 100 miles west of the icecap. Seven of the 13 marooned men were forced to pancake on the ice when fuel of their C-47 plane was exhausted, and have been there for 17 days. The other six are there because of previous rescue efforts which failed.

MORE FIGHTING HAS DEVELOPED IN PALESTINE

Gaza, seeking to cut off the remaining Egyptian garrisons in the Negev.

Irish artillery precluded the spread of the Holy Land fighting with a heavy barrage on the Jewish settlement of Kfar Saba, midway between Tel Aviv and Haifa.

The shelling was followed by heavy machine gun fire and then an assault in force by Iraqi troops. The outcome of the fighting was still in doubt.

One Of Cluster Of Settlements
Kfar Saba, only 10 miles from the Mediterranean coast, is one of a cluster of Israeli settlements which stood in the way of Arab attempts to cut the Tel Aviv-Haifa lifeline during the heavy Arab-Jewish fighting earlier this year.

But most observers, rather than interpreting it as an Arab attempt to pick up where they were stopped during the summer and fall truce, took the outbreak as an attempt to create a diversion and help Egyptian forces in the south.

While few details of the Negev fighting were available, Israeli sources confidently predicted a smashing victory. Premier David Ben Gurion declared:

"We are now witnessing 'the exodus' in reverse."

The Jewish fighters apparently aimed at cutting off all Egyptian troops in Palestine by slicing through to the Mediterranean just above the Egyptian border.

WM. H. LEWIS IS TAKEN BY DEATH

many years. The name of Billy Lewis with any steel company seems to be a guarantee of success. Twice he was called from retirement to put an industry back on its feet.

Headed Engineering Works
As a young man in New Castle he became a part owner of the Pennsylvania Engineering Works. In 1924 he was made president of the company and in 1945 chairman of the board. At his retirement in 1946 he was the only one of the original stockholders alive.

The years did not lightly upon "Billy" Lewis. He was truly one of the young in heart. He was one of those who could "walk with kings or lose the common touch."

He was a part of the steel industry when hard fists were necessary adjuncts to keen minds. He saw the industry develop from a lusty infant to its present giant size, and for many years was responsible.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lillian M. Lewis and a daughter, Mrs. George V. Foster. Funeral services will be from the Samsom Funeral Home, 537 Neville street, Pittsburgh, Tuesday at 4 o'clock.

Sunday morning, when the temperature at the U. S. Weather Observing Station dropped to two below zero, in the first severe cold wave of the winter.

Numerous motorists got caught on Sunday with too little antifreeze in their car radiators, it was evident in a trip around the city. Several steaming radiators were noted.

Boys that got sleds for Christmas were out of luck. There was snow, but it was of the dry variety that did not pack well enough to provide good coasting.

Only four little bundles of joy were born at the Jameson Memorial hospital, Christmas day, but the stark stayed right on the job, bringing eleven in all over the holiday period, including three early this morning.

Women residing on Scott street, in the vicinity of the serious fire at the Clifton home, provided firemen with hot coffee while fighting the blaze Christmas morning, for which they were most grateful.

College Students Conduct Service

College students, members of First Methodist church, who are home on vacation conducted the service on Sunday evening in First Methodist church. The program showed that our college young people are being prepared to take up their responsibilities in the world and to do a better job of it than has ever been done in the past.

The service was conducted by Miss Marilyn Reeves of Westminster College who introduced the various speakers with a brief but informative word. Miss Donna Dagon of Westminster, read the Scripture lesson with the prayer given by Donald Clark of Allegheny College. Tom Wand, of Baldwin-Wallace College played a beautiful cello solo.

The speakers of the evening were given the topic "Youth Looks at the future". Miss Wilma Cavill of Slippery Rock State Teachers College spoke about "A youthful educator looks at the future", while Ralph B. Shiner, Jr., of Penn State selected "Racial Discrimination and the Future". Miss Janet Everett of Ohio Wesleyan took "Hope for Peace in the Future" as her topic, with Joe Lutz of Slippery Rock Teachers, speaking on "Faith and the Future".

HART-SNYDER EXCHANGE VOWS

Miss Jean Marie Hart, of 322 Meyer avenue, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Hart, became the bride of Howard Frederick Snyder Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Frederick Snyder, of 519 W. Clayton street, at a lovely holiday wedding, Saturday afternoon, December 25, at 4 o'clock. The young couple exchanged vows in the Central Presbyterian church before a large gathering of friends, with Dr. Robert M. Patterson officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Lester G. Miller, with whom she makes her home, was charming in a street length dress of winter white, magnolia crepe. She wore pink accessories and carried a white bible marked with an orchid and streamers. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, gift of the groom.

As maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Rudesill, cousin of the bride, wore a powder blue wool dress with pink and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Howard Snyder Sr. served his son as best man and the ushers were Paul Farver and Robert Leslie.

Robert Rudesill, cousin of the bride presented a half hour recital of organ music preceding the ceremony and accompanied Robert Morrison, also a cousin of the bride, who sang, "Oh Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Dispensing with a reception the newly weds departed immediately on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return they will reside in a newly furnished apartment at 322 Shaw street.

QUENTIN ROOSEVELT

Another fighting Roosevelt is dead. Quentin Roosevelt, 28, grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt, son of Theodore Roosevelt Jr., nephew and brother of other fighting men of the name, has been killed in the crash of a Chinese airliner near Hong Kong. He was vice president of the airline company.

Quentin was born to a tradition. It was the family tradition of public service. Full of gusto and vigor, the men of this Oyster Bay tribe have plunged into work for their country when called upon to do so. But they have seemed even happier when going into battle under their flag.

Thus Theodore Sr., who was a rip-snorting rancher and frontiersman in the Dakota badlands at 22, resigned as assistant secretary of the Navy in 1898 to organize the Rough Riders. Who can forget the picture of that middle-aged D-Argentan, with rakish hat and mustachios, leading a splendidly debonair charge up San Juan Hill?

Theodore Jr., with his father's wide mouth and array of big teeth, served in the Navy Department and was governor of Puerto Rico and the Philippines. In the first World War he fought in France, and he went back as a brigadier in the second one. He died there. His brother Quentin died in aerial combat in 1918. Another brother, Kermit, died in service in Alaska.

And now the young Quentin is dead in a far-off spot in Asia, where he had gone as an exploring naturalist before the last war—even as his father had sought the giant panda there. Quentin's war record was in keeping with the family tradition, too. He won the Croix de Guerre, the Purple Heart and the Silver Star in the African campaign of 1943. It is a tradition Americans can be proud of.

THAT PLUSH PLANE

News of a plush, four-engined Constellation parked unobtrusively in a hangar at Washington's National Airport is a tempting morsel. Who ordered it, and for whom was it ordered?

Air Secretary Symington says it was ordered as a stand-by for the President's DC-6, the "Independence." He says he discussed it with President a year ago, and Mr. Truman told him to go ahead and do as he saw fit. So it was ordered and converted into an "executive" type ship with staterooms, lounges and the like. The secretary is upset because a reporter wrote that the big plane was to have been an Air Force present for "President Dewey." The story was a three-day wonder.

Mr. Symington then made use of a routine Washington luncheon to state the Air Force position and review the background of the story. He implied that the reporter might have been taken in by a fictitious "change order" circulated among employees of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, which called for "removal of moustache cup," and insertion of piano." He also offered a $1,000 bet that no one could dig up evidence of "Republican leanings" in the Air Force top echelons.

On the same day Mr. Truman, replying to a direct question at his press conference, denied any knowledge of the plane other than "what he had read in the papers." This puts Mr. Symington in a box because he had said the order was placed with the President's knowledge.

Anyway, the President has a stand-by plane. If Mr. Truman played coy in denying knowledge of it to let Mr. Symington stew in some unfavorable and embarrassing publicity, he has succeeded.

GAIN AS WELL AS LOSS

The airlift, by means of which the United States is getting food and supplies to the German people in blockaded western Berlin, is an expensive proceeding but not a total financial loss. Senator Taft made this latter fact plain the other day on his return from a four-weeks' visit to Europe, including Berlin.

Taft finds that as a result of our success with this method of transporting freight the Russians have been given an impressive demonstration of our strength in the air and consequently may not be eager to risk direct conflict with the United States. The experiment, moreover, has taught us a valuable lesson in the art of supplying an Army by airplanes.

Many Americans have looked with some misgivings on Operation Berlin. They will be glad to have this reassurance from so capable an observer as Senator Taft. They will also, we are certain echo Taft's praise of Gen. Lucius Clay, our military governor in Germany. General Clay, he says, has done "a magnificent job" in dealing with the Russians and should have the wholehearted support of the American people.

That this is an accurate estimate of General Clay's work is proved by the esteem in which he is held by the Germans and the Soviet hostility to him which the Russians have taken no pains to hide. He is a rugged and resolute commander. Anybody less talented would have made a mess out of the Berlin situation.

In 1949, says one business astrologist, the nation will have a slight depression, then a boom, followed by another depression. That is, the year will be anything but monotonous.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The little kingdom of Holland, keystone of a vast and wealthy empire, stood firm today in the face of mounting criticism of its so-called "police action" in Indonesia.

Hostile speeches before the United Nations security council and swift punitive action by India and Pakistan demonstrated the severity of the situation.

But it seemed clear that the Dutch are counting on the swift passage of time to consolidate their grip on Java and Sumatra, eliminating influence of the Republican government which they accuse of permitting communist infiltration and terrorism.

It is highly unlikely that Holland expected the United States to condemn the action as loudly as it has done, or that India and Pakistan would retaliate by suspending Dutch air flights over Indian territory.

Have Thrown Their Dice
But the Dutch have thrown their dice. Traditionally stubborn by nature, they are believed unlikely to back down now, particularly as they seem to be within a few hours of virtually complete victory.

Their leaders have made it clear that they are willing to wait years if necessary for vindication in the eyes of the world.

To put it simply, Holland is willing to grant independence to the Netherlands East Indies provided that Dutch sovereignty is respected and the fruits of many years' labor are not dissipated by irresponsible elements.

Holland has known much glory but it has had an equal share of adversity. Her colonial possessions were won by force—as were those of Great Britain and France—and there was a time when the Dutch navy and merchant marine were composed of nothing but pirate ships.

They were manned by ruthless sailors who called themselves "sea beggars." The most daring and powerful of them penetrated to the East Indies and the West Indies, sopping up vast hordes of wealth in rubber, spices, copra and the like, and in later years the black gold of petroleum.

Beneficial Rule
There was always a beneficent

CHILD WHO LEAVES TASK UNFINISHED

In a good many letters a child of the primary grades is reported as rarely or never finishing the written work assigned his class to do.

Of a boy, eight, his mother writes, for example, "He is bright as a whip and can get most anything very quickly and is a good child. But he will not put anything down on paper. His teacher tells me he handed in very few papers in six weeks."

Good Health
"He did not miss a day of school all last year and our doctor says his health is good. We have promised him different things that he would like to have, if he would only finish his written work, and we get him the very best clothes for school."

"Last year and the year before his daddy spanked him, but the next day it would be the same. His daddy gets so severe but it doesn't do any good, only makes the boy more nervous. I don't like to see him punished so severely, though I say nothing when his daddy takes over."

About in this way I wrote this mother. In the first place this boy may catch on as well as you parents and the teacher suppose he can. It would be well to have a psychologist test him and advise you. If your schools do not have a psychologist arrange with a psychologist at your nearest college or university for a test.

Cruel to Sould
I wish that the father might see how cruel and futile it is to whip or even scold this lad for his not putting things down on paper. Anyway, there's no sense in punishing a child at home for his poor learning at school or elsewhere. Book learning can't be cultivated through inflicting pain. If that boy deliberately disobeys at home something clearly forbidden him to do, punishment by his having to sit on a chair unmused for thirty minutes might be effective. Then Dad would have no occasion to use corporal punishment at school, and the lad left the chair before the designated time. I'm enclosing my bulletin, "Fathers Are Parents, Too."

Just let it lie around, hoping Dad might read it. Don't tell him he should. You, too, may have this by sending me a stamped, self-addressed envelope to 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Hard as it is to do, your calm silence when Dad is most severe with the boy is wise. In your sweet, persuasive way you might, at other times, when Dad is receptive, lead him to see why he should be different, especially if you compliment him on his few good ways (I'm sure he has some).

May Spell Poorly
This boy may spell so poorly and write by hand so miserably as to find the written work repulsive. You might induce him to spend ten minutes an evening writing after a neat copy you make for him.

I'm enclosing my bulletin on spelling. If he must hand in (I hope not) written work at school done at home, spell the hard words for him. Preval on him to write down each evening a few sentences as you dictate them very slowly or to do something simple on paper after you give directions for doing it. Read some to him daily in order to cultivate good listening. Get him easy, interesting books and children's magazines he will enjoy reading. See that he has a few definite jobs about the home he must do regularly and promptly.

rule in the islands. The patrons were stern but just, hard taskmasters but liberal in giving care and a measure of education to the natives. Bali still stands out among the Pacific islands as one that has never known the scourge of disease.

The decision of former Queen Wilhelmina to fashion a United States of Indonesia was forced by the compulsion of changing times. But her very rigidity of character was guarantee that never would Holland let her "jewels of empire"

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

What has made America great? What is keeping America great? Your history books will give you many answers to these questions. Courage. Enterprise. Competition. Faith. Resources.

All these and many more have made America great, and, if preserved and fostered, will keep her great.

But one magnificent asset of our people is not mentioned in the history books.

Yet it is one of our greatest natural assets—an asset in which, I believe, we excel all other peoples.

That asset is Sense of Humor.

If I had a child, and a good fairy came along and asked me to make three wishes for that child, I would say to the good fairy:

"Give my child character, personality and a sense of humor." With those three assets I would never have to worry about my child.

I have talked about character and personality before. Without character every other asset loses its meaning.

Personality is that bubbling fervescence that charms people and makes them do what you want them to do.

Personality makes super-salesmen; brings girls husbands or mink coats, or both; elects presidents; "makes friends and influences people."

And a sense of humor—what a wonderful thing to possess that is! A sense of humor makes hardships easier to bear.

A sense of humor ridicules bombast and sham.

A sense of humor heals wounds. Let me give you an example.

At one of the famous Gridiron club dinners held in Washington the other day, many of the country's leaders in politics, in journalism, in law, in business, were present.

President Truman sat next to a long-haired, red-headed, Republican bigwig rubbed elbows with their Democratic brethren.

The members of the Gridiron club are outstanding Washington journalists, most of whom are predicted Dewey's victory.

So these eminent gentlemen of the press came on the stage, dressed in high tails, stiff-bosom shirts, white ties and tails, but without pants.

To hilarious laughter and great applause they sang a ditty which ended—"then voters everywhere gave us the bird."

They presented Governor Dewey with a scroll conferring upon him an honor the club confers upon all "ex-presidents"—a standing invitation to all its dinners.

Mr. Dewey laughed as heartily as Mr. Truman. Both made witty speeches, shook hands, promised each other cooperation, and there was no sign of gloating on one side or of rancor on the other.

At the end of the dinner Alf Landon and Jim Farley were seen shaking hands and slapping each other or the back. Both were laughing. Both were friends again.

As long as we can laugh we are invincible.

IF CHRIST SHOULD COME TODAY

What if the Gates of Heaven,
On their Golden hinges should sway;
And Christ from His home in Glory,
Should come to the Earth today?

Would His heart be filled with gladness,
Would the angels nigh anthem sing,
Praising their God in the Highest,
Would the joy bells of Heaven ring?

Would He feel the road to Calvary,
Had not been traveled in vain;
Would He feel repaid in fullness,
For His suffering and pain?

Would He pass through fertile Valleys?
Once wavering with golden grain,
Now—but a perfect shambles
A harvest of the slain.

Would He stroll by the blood-red rivers,
Reddened with human blood;
As the bodies of cruel war victims,
Are carried away in the flood?

Would He hear the voices of infants,
Cry out from their silent graves;
Where the hand of man has sent them
Down there 'neath the ocean's waves?

Would He go to the battle trenches,
Would He witness the hellish strife;
Do you think He approves of this slaughter,
This wholesale taking of life?

I think He would turn in agony
From a world that is all but lost,
And wander back to Golgotha
To weep at the foot of the Cross.

Little Dutch Boy At The Dike

Some Short Comment

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 27.—"A Bridge of Sighs" is being tentatively constructed between Mr. Truman's promises and his performance in the Taft-Hartley repealer. Some of the more politically-minded laborites now believe that the President will make a mistake and risk a set-back if he insists that Congress kill the present Labor Law and reenact the Wagner Law. Too many senators and representatives are on record in favor of Taft-Hartley. They cannot reverse their former positions without looking more foolish than national law-makers are supposed to do. Moreover, a quick flip-flop would earn them the anger of State political bosses and campaign contributors, most of whom want no part of a return to the Wagner Law. All representatives and one-third of the senators will be up for re-election in 1950, and Mr. Truman will not. The Democratic majority in Congress would like to see a compromise labor bill—a bridge between the Taft-Hartley and Wagner laws—which would have the double purpose of saving their legislative dignity and giving the President substantially what he wants. Mr. Truman's acceptance of such a plan would bring sighs of relief on Capitol Hill.

The Marshall Plan may keep its name but change its nature during the life of the 81st Congress. As enacted under Public Law 472 the Plan gave many inducements to American business, but it will be remarkable if all these concessions to free enterprise survive.

They Say

NEW YORK—Vice President-elect Alben W. Barkley . . . "My wants for Christmas are modest. But for the country I wish continued prosperity, peace and joy in this great holiday season."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Pepper (D-Florida).—"American financing, even indirectly, of aggression is inconsistent with our state principles and policies and actual practice in the past."

WASHINGTON—Rep. Klein (R) N. Y. . . . "The Netherlands government has not only outraged the aims of the United Nations but has disowned the solemn assurance of their queen only a year ago."

BERLIN—Gen. Lucius Clay, U. S. occupation commander . . . "Too great a degree of international control will prepare the fertile soil for Communist demagogues seeking to rally the people around slogans of exploitation and persecution."

Sweet are the uses of adversity, and we may find in 1949 that hard times have gone a long way toward humanizing the movie industry. Hard times? Yes, because the picture people, almost alone among big industries, are making less money than in the recent past. Foreign revenues were 130 million dollars in 1948, the first postwar year, and are estimated to hit around 50 million dollars this year. Domestic revenues are off about 15 per cent, according to the Eric Johnston office here in Washington. But the reason for the domestic slump is more interesting than the fact itself. People, living close to their budgets, are still pinching top-rate movies but are staying away from the trashy ones. Hollywood will cut its production budgets in 1949, but artistically this may be a public boon. Poets are supposed to sing sweeter on empty stomachs, so why not script writers? And if American industry is due for an eventual recession, Hollywood for once may be ahead of the times instead of behind them. The movie business, forced to count its nickels like the neighborhood housewife, might even attain the dignity of prophecy and interpretation in the wonder years ahead.

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Secretary Marshall's Successor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.

THOUGH General Marshall is reported as wholly recovered from his recent operation, more doubt that he will continue very long as Secretary of State exists now than before. A man who has lost one kidney has got to take extremely good care of the other. You can get along on one quite well for a long time. But you cannot get along with none at all—not for a minute.

ENTIRELY aside from that situation, it is recognized that General Marshall sincerely desires to retire from public life. He did not want to be Secretary of State in the first place. He accepted because the request came from his Commander in Chief and he has done a superb job. Kidney or no kidney, if the President again appealed to him, probably he would stay. He is that kind of man. But the question arises whether, under these conditions and regardless of how great his admiration for General Marshall and how earnest his desire to keep him, the President could justify such an appeal.

MEN close to both Mr. Truman and General Marshall feel that he cannot. Some of the rich officials on the "higher echelons" of the Truman Administration recently were privately talking about their acute anxiety to lay down their "heavy burdens" and get back to private life. But they did not mean it at all. It was at a time when they did not believe that way when the first White House intimation came ceased to talk that was going to be allowed to stay. The one man whose sincerity about the lure of private life there was no room to doubt was General Marshall. He did very little talking about it, but before he became Secretary of State as well as afterward—and before his operation as well as since—his personal wishes were above question.

ALL of which makes General Marshall's views as to his successor, if and when the time comes to name one, rather important—in that they are sure to have considerable weight with Mr. Truman. It is known that the General holds under Secretary Robert Lovett in the highest of personal esteem. Unquestionably he is a man of great capacity and a fine character who has made a first-class record and would make a first-class Secretary of State. So, too, would Ambassador Lewis Douglas or his able brother-in-law, John McCloy, head of the International Bank. However, there is reason to believe that General Marshall's first choice is Senator Arthur Vandenberg and, if asked by the President, choice is Senator Vandenberg and, if asked by the President, choice is Senator Vandenberg. Not only is there a strong bond of mutual regard between General Marshall and Senator Vandenberg but the former believes continuation of bipartisan support of the American foreign policy is a basic essential. It is the one way to keep it out of foreign politics and maintain a united front. No one denies that the Vandenberg contribution to the united front has been greater than any other's. More than any others, his selection as Secretary of State would insure a continuation. But two questions arise: Can Mr. Truman be gotten to make the offer; (2) can Senator Vandenberg be gotten to accept?

AS to the first—if and when General Marshall retires, the President will be under heavy pressure to name not only a Democrat but a New Deal Democrat. Among those mentioned are the amiable but not too well equipped Chief Justice Vinson and, of course the ubiquitous Mr. Justice Douglas who somehow gets mentioned for nearly everything that is open. Partly this pressure for a New Deal Democrat comes from the labor, partly from certain members of the White House "inner circle" and partly from the shoddy, old Roosevelt element which regards the Vandenberg-Hiss disclosures as "boring," insists that the House Un-American Activities Committee should be abolished and chides Mr. Truman for trying to run a "New Deal administration without New Deal men." How far the President will be affected by these influences remains to be seen. Sometimes they have their way with him, sometimes not.

AS to the second question—would Senator Vandenberg accept?—his friends think he could on two conditions. The first is that it be clearly understood that his acceptance in no way diminished his hostility to Mr. Truman's domestic policies. For example, he is totally out of sympathy with the Truman labor policy of Taft-Hartley repeal. Also, he is out of tune with the New Deal spending policies and the many reckless promises of the Democratic platform and candidate in the recent campaign. He could not, it is said, sit in Mr. Truman's Cabinet if it implied any change in his attitude on these matters.

THE second condition is that the more important Republican leaders, such as Governor Dewey, Senator Taft, Governor Warren and Governor Stassen, feel that it was the right thing for him to do and support him in doing it. Otherwise, it is argued, the strength of the bi-partisan support, which he stands would be greatly diluted. It will be agreed that these are two important conditions. But they are not insurmountable conditions and could easily be met if there is sincerity on both sides. Certainly it would be in the national interests to do so.

BROTHER CAPRICORN
"They are Capricorns," they tell us, "who were born this time of year."
They possess a sense of humor, and the need for it is clear. For a birthday close to Christmas, either after or before. Means a word of sweet remembrance—only that, and little more.

Neath the sign of Capricornus
I've a brother who was born. He joined our family circle two days after Christmas morn. Of the birthday gifts we've given, very few he can recall; And he drew the name of Percy, which he doesn't like at all.

Through the years he's had to chuckle. Now his very words I quote:
"Of the zodiac's twelve symbols 'twas my luck to draw the goat."

And that, only birthday neckties that have ever been my share Were the ones he got for Christmas which my brother wouldn't wear."

They who know the stars and planets and the moon and morning sun Say that Capricorns are witty and are fond of having fun. So, this evening, for his birthday, though it's one I'd never buy, With my love to brother Percy goes another Christmas tie.

ONLY A HORSE FARM.

I see that the plan of the government to close out by public action the Kellogg Arabian horse ranch near Pomona, California—except for a comparative few of the horses to be retained by the government—has been postponed to a later date, possibly permanently postponed.

Those urging the doing away with this gorgeous ranch and its occupants is only one result of the rather popular desire to abandon all things that can possibly be connected with the horse-and-buggy age. These beautiful spirited horses are falling a victim to the mechanized age—to the power of gasoline. The Army took them over during the war. But the Army's present need of remounts is very small. So the magnificent Arabians, for the most part, may go on the auction block.

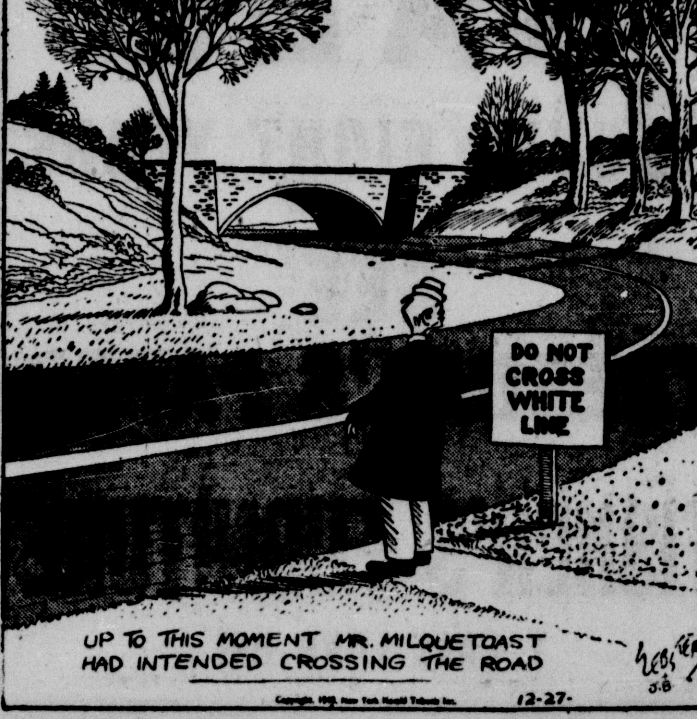

Present Treatment of Painting
This is very much like the present treatment of painting. More and more are public exhibitions of paintings are showing the decline of the art. The great galleries now are more or less of a joke. It is all a part of the disposition of the modern to ridicule the accomplishments of the past.

Our modern civilization has had a very short life. Once in a while we see evidence of a life that was lived on this earth thousands of years ago.

Home Of Dominic Cioffi
Badly Damaged By Blaze
Christmas Day

Damage of around $2,300 was reported to the home and contents of Dominic Cioffi, of 211 North Scott street, at 5:20 p. m. Christmas Day when the interior of the home was badly damaged. The fire is believed to have started from an overheated furnace. Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reports.

Members of the family were away, and when the blaze was discovered it had gained considerable headway.

Firemen had a hard battle getting the fire under control, and for a time it looked as if the home would be destroyed.

Dutch Planes May Be Refused Permit To Land By Arabs

CAIRO, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Arab League circles said today that Moslem states may forbid Dutch planes to land in their territory in a protest against Holland's war on the Indonesian Republic.

Dutch planes are now barred from India and Pakistan.

Arab League officials were also reported considering the advisability of closing the Suez canal, which is under Egyptian control, to Dutch ships.

The Arab League states have already protested the Dutch warfare to the Security Council.

Three Teachers In City Schools Go To Convention

Three representatives of the New Castle schools went to Harrisburg today to attend the 96th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education association.

Miss Grace Dodson of the senior high school, president of the New Castle chapter, PSEA, heads the local delegation, and with her are Miss Mary Martin of Benjamin Franklin junior high school, the first vice president, and J. H. Earl McKenzie of the senior high school.

While an increased salary scale for teachers will be one of the important issues before the convention Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, most of the emphasis will be put upon an improved retirement system.

For that reason it is possible Dr. David Stewart, superintendent of the Dormont schools, will be elected president of the state association. Dr. Stewart made an exhaustive study of retirement systems and it felt he is the logical man to present the matter to the General Assembly in the session of 1949.

Skating Rink Burns; Damage Is $100,000

WILLOW GROVE, Pa., Dec. 27.—(INS)—A multi-alarm fire, fanned by icy winds, today roared through the skating rink at Willow Grove Amusement park.

Park officials estimated the damage at $100,000.

No one was reported injured. Abington township police said they were unable to determine how the flames started.

The fire was discovered at four a. m., and firemen were still battling the blaze by sub-freezing temperatures which turned water into ice almost immediately, and by a carpet of snow in the park, which had been closed for the winter.

Gen. Clay Discounts Possibilities Of Any New War Now

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay today discounted the possibility of a new war and emphasized that "conditions . . . which make for a long peace are returning to Europe."

The U. S. Military governor of Germany, in a radio interview broadcast to America last night, said:

"While a general peace settlement has not been agreed, in the broad sense of the word we are at peace now. Or at least, we are not engaged in war."

"We do not need to be plunged into war."

Clay stated that once western Europe is back on its feet, then a long peace may be expected.

The general, in a predominantly optimistic report on the overall German situation, asserted that the airlift had "met the challenge" of severe November and December weather, and as a result, there is no food crisis in Berlin.

Bessemer firemen were called to the home of Nick Herbolich, of Sixth street, Bessemer, at 11 o'clock, Christmas morning, where fire believed to have started from an overheated furnace caused damage of around $500.

The firemen made a good save on the house, the fire having started to work its way into the first floor of the home, when they stopped it.

New Invasion In Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Costa Rica announced today that 10 government soldiers were wounded and 57 were missing—some of whom are presumed dead—as the result of a new invasion by rebels from Nicaragua.

An official bulletin said that the raid took place at Puerto Soley, where the insurgents overwhelmed the government garrison in a brief, bloody battle in which grenades and machine-guns were used.

The "invaders"—presumably followers of ex-President Rafael Calderon Guardia—were believed to have penetrated Costa Rican territory from Los Mojones in Nicaragua, and then withdrawn.

The announcement said that it was possible that some of the missing garrison had escaped and were hiding in the hills.

State CapitalMay Ask New Judge In State

Administration May Seek Appointment Of Another
Judge In Dauphin
County

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Duff administration may ask the general assembly to add another jurist to the Dauphin County common pleas bench where most litigation involving the commonwealth are aired. Three judges now comprise the court but the docket is jammed at times to such an extent that jurists from nearby counties are summoned to help expedite lawsuits. Judges who receive $18,000 annually including $3,000 from the commonwealth. Should the request be made and approved by the assembly it would give Governor Duff another judicial appointment. His appointment December 24 of Harrisburg City Solicitor Paul Smith was made after months of consideration which sparked some controversy in Republican circles. Smith has been aligned with Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor of Harrisburg, who also heads the county GOP organization. The vacancy was caused by the death of President Judge William M. Hargest who was on the bench almost 38 years.

Expanded training for Pennsylvania national guardsmen may be ordered in 1950 but a decision has not been made by the national guard at Washington, D. C. The hint was contained in the Pennsylvania Guardsman, published by the PNG. The magazine said Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the NG bureau, had estimated the increase would boost the overall cost of the guard by nine per cent in 1950 while for the current fiscal year the cost of the guard would have been 24 per cent. Cramer was quoted as saying that the training level of the all guard organizations in the nation would be increased by approximately 300 per cent. The publication also said Cramer predicted the guard's new three year training program ultimately will replace the six-year plan.

A reduced accident rate may result from the Philadelphia extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, according to the safety-minded "Right of Way," published by the Pennsylvania Threshermen and Farmers' Protective Association. The organization also hinted that the volume of railroad passenger traffic between Harrisburg and Philadelphia may fall after the new link is opened late in 1950. "As a toll road, it will compete with the railroads, which pay heavy states taxes, and it can lay claim to public funds for the reason that to pay for it out of highway revenues would rob other road improvements of much-needed funds," the publication asserted. "The new road, by relieving other highways of heavy trucks and car travel will make other highways safer and the accident rate, no doubt, will be reduced and motoring made pleasanter. The road will be made as safe as possible but there always will be fools to drive their cars beyond endurance and accidents will happen even on the most scientifically constructed highways," the "Right of Way" emphasized.

Governor Duff is drafting his message to the General Assembly which will outline broadly the legislative program he will press during the 138th regular meeting opening January 4. The pre-session consensus among lawmakers visiting the state capital is that the governor's overall program is not going to be accepted with the spirit of cooperation which marked his first legislative blueprint in 1947. Duff is what legislators call "in trouble" with his penny-a-bottle soft drink tax, his proposed two cents a gallon increase in the state's gas tax and other fiscal policies. Should the legislators split with the governor it will be a battle to behold for Duff is one of the strongest-minded men ever to occupy the governor's chair and not one given to compromise.

Inventor Is Dead

'Dad' Wickliff, 55, Opened First
Gasoline Station Back
In 1911

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 27.—(INS)—"Dad" Wickliff, just a kindly old man, locally famous and not caring too much about it, was quiet today at Columbus. The inventor of the gasoline station was dead.

Retired in 1928
Funeral services tomorrow afternoon will be quiet and dignified in keeping with the manner of the man who was known for years as "Dad" because of his prematurely gray hair.
A native of Pataskala, O., Wickliff came to Columbus at the turn of the century and started working for the Standard Oil Co. At first he delivered coal oil in horse-drawn carts. It was this which gave him the idea of having places where the then-new automobiles could be serviced.
In 1913 he opened the first station. Wickliff retired from active service in 1928.
Wickliff had been ill four weeks. He was 85 when he died.

World War I Chief Of Staff Observes
Birthday Today; Silent
On World Conditions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Gen. Peyton C. March, American chief of staff in World War I, celebrated his 84th birthday today and broke a custom of many years' standing.

For more than two decades it had been the general's practice to grant one interview a year—on his birthday—and his annual expressions of opinion have yielded many a crackling and caustic story.

But today the renowned old soldier said:
"I am not going to do any prognosticating, criticizing, or analyzing. I have something better to do. Four generations of my family are gathered with me in my home and I'm so happy to have them with me that I'm just not going to take time out to talk about the state of the world."

"There's nothing I can do about it, anyway, and since, at my age, I'm not sure that I can count on such a family gathering again, I refuse to allow anything to interfere with it."

Friends of March recalled that he made one "official" appearance during the year—to attend the funeral of the man with whom he had many bitter differences of opinion, General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

Still ramrod-straight and looking every inch a soldier, March saluted Pershing's bier at Arlington National Cemetery last July.

March, a native of Easton, Pa., and a West Point graduate in 1888, served as chief of staff from 1918 until his retirement in 1921.

SECURITY COUNCIL MEMBERS PONDER
INDONESIA MOVE

Tarassenko, charged the United States is morally responsible for the outbreak of fighting in Indonesia because its aid to the Netherlands enabled the Dutch to begin their offensive.

Tarassenko told the council he was late in arriving for its current session because of the refusal or delay of the French consul in New York to issue him a diplomatic visa.

The Ukrainian delegate termed Dutch action in the East Indies "comparable to the aggressions of Hitlerite Germany." He introduced a resolution demanding that Netherlands forces immediately withdraw to positions they occupied before recent fighting began.

The French representative, Alexandre Parodi, apologized to Tarassenko for his delay in getting a diplomatic visa. He said it probably was caused by the fact that only the French embassy in Washington is empowered to issue them.

Russian delegate Jacob Malik put forward a resolution calling for an end of hostilities within 24 hours.

He said Van Royen's statement on the situation was "a bald refusal to put an end to military action."

Following the recess, Col. W. R. Hodgson of Australia and D. B. Desai of India denounced alleged Dutch non-compliance with the cease-fire and withdrawal resolution. Desai also pointed out that the Dutch have said nothing about releasing Republican President Soekarno and Premier Mohammed Hatta.

Hodgson said the resolution is "weak and ineffective" and shows that the Security Council lacks courage to uphold authority and prestige "which have been deliberately flouted."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Economic Cooperation Administration today approved $7,837,000 in new Marshall Plan purchases for six European nations and bizonal Germany.

The new authorizations increased total ECA purchase approvals to $4,198,127,000.

Included among today's transactions was a $2,000,000 reduction in a previous authorization for France to buy lead and lead base alloys from Mexico.

(BULLETIN)
PARIS, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The United Nations Security Council rejected today Soviet and American resolutions calling for almost immediate withdrawal of Dutch troops from occupied areas of Republican Indonesia.

The Council acted after Dr. J. H. Van Royen of the Netherlands insisted that his government is at tempting to fit an earlier resolution calling for a cease-fire order "into the realities of the situation."

In the Lake County resort country 75 miles north of San Francisco's Golden Gate, roads into Middletown and Lower Lake were closed by snow and ice. Telephone communication to the two towns was disrupted.

In contrast, the sandstorm which began Saturday still was blowing in the Bakerfield area, closing the main United States Highway 99—Ridge Route—avenue to Los Angeles.

Fostering Revolt
In Central America

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Dominican Republic's New York Information Bureau reported today that Russia is financing a campaign to foster armed revolution in the middle Americas in 1949.

The Dominican Republic charged that the Soviet embassy in Mexico City is providing money to arm, recruit and train Communist-minded youths for the purpose of overthrowing countries in the Panama Canal area.

It also charged that Bonilla Atiles, exiled Dominican Communist leader, conferred last week with Soviet embassy officials.

The conference, it added, was held at the behest of President Juan Arevalo, of Guatemala, for the purpose of raising funds to promote large scale armed revolution in Central America and Caribbean countries.

Bad Judgment,
Faulty Methods
Explain Polls

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—A combination of bad judgment and faulty methods was blamed today for the failure of public opinion polls to forecast accurately the outcome of the recent presidential election.

This was the report handed down by a committee of social scientists and statisticians appointed by the Social Science Research Council to perform a post-mortem on the polls.

The committee declared:
1. The polls, though operated in good faith, were so over-confident that they permitted themselves the luxury of "uncertain" interviewing. They were satisfied to interview the most accessible people and paid less attention to farmers and others whose opinions were difficult to obtain.

2. The polls drew sweeping conclusions from these incomplete surveys and overlooked late shifts in voter opinion.

Members of the committee included James Phinney Baxter III, president of Williams College, Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting Company, Isadore Lubin, of the American Statistical Association, and professors from leading universities.

Plane Crash Kills
Chicago Man, Wife

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 27.—(INS)—J. H. Leason, vice-president of the Argus Corporation, camera manufacturers, and his wife were killed in a plane crash today at Chattanooga.

The couple was burned beyond recognition, but tentative identification, made from a billfold, was confirmed by Leason's secretary.

The secretary told Chattanooga that the executive and his wife were flying from Chicago to Miami and had planned to make a fuel stop at Chattanooga.

The two were flying in a Beechcraft Bonanza.

Harry Brady, an official of Lovell Field, said the plane's pilot was ready to take off. A few minutes after the aircraft left the southwest runway of the field, it began settling at about 100 feet, and then attempted to turn back.

While trying to land at the field, the plane crashed and burned. Leason is president of J. H. Leason Investors of Chicago and is a vice-president of the Argus Corporation.

Italy Is Seeking To Charter Ships

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The State Department revealed today that Italy has been "informally" seeking to charter U.S. vessels to assist in the immigration of Italians.

Michael McDermott, department spokesman, said that Italian representatives have had "exploratory" talks on the subject in Washington with State Department and Maritime Commission officials.

However, McDermott emphasized that the Maritime Commission has "primary responsibility" in this field.

Asked by a newsmen whether the United States has any objection to supplying the vessels if available, he referred the questioner to the Maritime Commission saying that there might be a scarcity of ships and that the State Department "doesn't have any ships."

Truman Advisers See No Hope For Cutting Spending

By CHARLES E. SEIB
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—President Truman's top-level economic advisers see no hope for an end to large-scale government spending for many years to come.

Further, they feel that the federal "cheap-money policy" is feeding a dangerous inflation, but they are finding it hard to devise a safe substitute for that policy.

These facts were disclosed in the third annual report to the president by his council of economic advisers, headed by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse.

Other Assertions

The report also made these other major assertions:

1. True competition must be created throughout industry or "big business" will face the risk of increased government controls.

2. Establishment of a "standard of fair wages" would be of great help in reaching labor-management contracts, but such a standard should not be binding on either side.

3. Inflation dangers lurk in the easy credit provisions of the housing program, but the program is necessary and "anti-inflationary policies must be devised".

4. The farm price support program "has not yet been perfected", but it has public approval and must be continued.

5. Social security and other welfare laws add to the immediate costs of production, but "these measures, wisely adjusted, add to productivity and thus lower costs in the long run."

Regarding the high cost of government, the report asserted:

"A basic feature of our economy for many years to come will be a federal budget much greater, in proportion to national income, than any before World War I. . . . There is no basis for any plan which assumes that there will be any substantial reduction in federal spending."

The council said that every effort to reduce federal spending clashes with "the hard fact" that the spending is demanded by activities which have "the overwhelming support" of the American people.

Turning to federal fiscal policy, the advisers reported that "inflation is dangerous and is being fed by our cheap-money policy."

They said, however, that it would be "reckless" to revise that policy by changes which might unsettle national credit and create financial disorder.

Four Autos Involved In Minor Accident

Four autos were involved in an accident about 7 p. m. Saturday at Lee avenue and West Washington street. No persons were hurt.

Hugh R. Hannon of 1422 West Washington street told police he was driving east on West Washington street.

When his car arrived at Lee avenue intersection, William Ruppersberger, R. D. 8, operating north on Lee avenue, turned his car left into West Washington street.

His car hit that of Hannon, the impact forcing Hannon's car against two cars parked by Walter Hannon and Thomas Hannon of 1035 West Washington street.

Harry McLinn, Cleveland, reported to police he parked his car Christmas morning at 122 North Beaver street and the side of the vehicle was damaged by another car which failed to stop.

Garbage truck operated by Calvin Cox, Willard avenue, drifted backward at Beaver and Grant streets, catching a rear view mirror on a truck parked there, police were told by Cox.

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna, who more than a week ago said "I'm keeping my fingers crossed", uncrossed them today, because crime of a serious nature was practically lacking during the past week.

Chief Hanna had instructed police to be especially alert during the pre-Christmas period, and no doubt the sharp vigilance of the police may have discouraged anyone with a desire to stage a big holdup.

ARREST TWO OPERATORS

Arthur Bigley, Atlantic avenue, and Sam Agastinas, South Jefferson street, were arrested Saturday on charges of operating a motor car while intoxicated. Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna will swear to informations against the pair today before a local alderman.

Bigley was arrested at Beaver and South streets at 5:53 a. m. Saturday after his car almost struck a Yellow taxi cab.

Agastinas was arrested in Kurtz street after his auto struck a truck operated by William Campbell, 11:30 South Mill street.

Harrisburg Negro Faces Murder Charge

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Linwood Cheatham, 44, Harrisburg Negro, today faced a charge of slaying his wife, Georgia, 30, as the aftermath of a Christmas Day shooting in their Harrisburg home.

Detective Capt. John Abrams said a man called headquarters early Christmas Day and said "I just shot my wife." When police arrived they found Cheatham and the victim, a bullet from a .32 caliber pistol in her heart.

Cheatham later insisted the shooting was accidental.

Local Sailor In On Fliers Rescue

Among those who will be in on the Greenland rescue, will be Charles R. Harper, A.A., son of former Assistant Fire Chief and Mrs. George W. Harper, of 511 Young street.

Aviation Apprentice Harper, who has been in service for the past five months, was assigned to the Saipan, following completion of his boot training.

The Saipan is enroute to Greenland waters, where they will attempt to rescue Army fliers, who have been stranded on a Greenland ice cap since December 9.

JOBS UPON A TIME

Jeffrey Lynn, film actor, was teaching English and dramatics in a small school in Maine when he decided to try the stage. Lynn joined a semi-pro theater troupe, then went to New York, working first as a doorman while he studied drama. He played the lead in a stock version of "Brother Rat". Hollywood called him in 1943. Jeffrey married fashion editor Robin Chandler in 1946.

Edmond O'Brien quit Fordham college after his first year and joined the Columbia Laboratory players. Stage producer Guthrie McClintic "discovered" him and gave him the role of the second grave-digger in "Hamlet". O'Brien appeared with Orson Welles on a radio program and, after several more prominent stage parts, was signed by a Hollywood studio in 1941. O'Brien served in the armed services in World War II.

INJURED IN ATTACK
Lebro Ferriano, 66, West Washington street, was struck by a man in a West Washington street business place at 6:30 p. m. December 24, and was attended in the Jameson Memorial hospital for a laceration on the right side of his head.

Pittsburgh Man Dies In Flames

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Fire department officials today were to examine the demolished living room of one of the three dwellings that were destroyed in Sunday's triple-alarm fire on Pittsburgh's south side.

They are searching for a clue to the fire that resulted in the death of one man and had another near death.

The dead man, William J. Wilkinson, 30, had been trapped on the second floor of his mother's five-room frame house. His brother Earl H. Wilkinson, 26, a salesman for the U. S. Rubber company, was near death in South Side hospital.

The damage was estimated at $8,000 in the fire which made 12 persons homeless.

Local Men Hurt In Auto Accident

Two men were injured when an auto in which they were riding skidded and crashed into a tree on Butler avenue Saturday morning at 1:30 o'clock.

Rudolph Moraldi, 24 years old, of 1114 Croton avenue received a fractured right foot and bruises of the body. He was later discharged from the New Castle hospital.

Guido Sylvester, 21, 411 Electric street, suffered contusions of the nose and minor lacerations of the face. He too was discharged afterwards. Other occupants were uninjured.

Rescue Man After He Falls Over Wall

City Policemen Davis and Lockard with the aid of a rope and several Croton residents, rescued Clyde Hall, 60, of 345 East North street, who, in some manner, fell over the stone wall along the Ne-shannock creek on Croton avenue at 3:25 a. m. Christmas day.

When he fell he did not land in the creek, but along it. His cries for help alarmed nearby residents who summoned police.

They had to procure a rope, fasten it about Hall, and with the aid of several persons hauled him up the wall.

He was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, having suffered exposure.

Steel Industry Smashes Records For Production

Peacetime Records For Production
Reach 86 Million Tons
In 1948

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The American Steel Institute today announced that the steel industry's production in 1948 smashed all existing peacetime production records in 1948 with an output of more than 86 million tons.

This was disclosed today by the American Iron and Steel Institute which asserted this year's production might have been the greatest in history of the industry had not the coal strike last April interrupted operations.

A spokesman for the institute said that the war years of 1943 and 1944 only exceeded the 1948 production. The 1943 output totaled 88,836,512 while the 1944 figure stood at 89,641,000.

Basis for the tremendous 1948 production was attributed to co-operation between management and CIO-United Steel Workers and the east expansion program undertaken by the industry soon after V-J day.

In 1947 Philip Murray, president of the Steel Workers Union, negotiated a two-year contract with the industry containing a non-strike clause.

The steel industry's outlay for new and modern equipment since the end of the war in the Far East to December 1948 totaled $1,400,000,000. The program is expected to be completed early next year.

During the first nine months of 1948, a decline of 31 per cent over 1947, most of the 3,377,846 tons went to Marshall aid countries with Germany and other bombed-out nations receiving the greatest share. Great Britain received only a small portion of metal.

A Switch In Time May Save A Whine

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Ever get up in the middle of the night to answer the phone—and stumble over the furniture before you reached a light switch?

Donald P. Crookshank of Cleveland has invented a gadget so you won't have to go through that any more.

His device consists of an automatic switch which you put under the telephone and connect to any convenient lamp.

Vibrations Throw Switch
When the phone rings, the vibration throws the switch and the light is turned on even before you've got one eye open.

Crookshank points out that his invention has another use. People who don't like to come home in the dark can attach the switch to the line leading to yard or garage lights.

Then, when they start for home they just telephone the residence. The bell rings—the lights go on—and you saunter home just as if someone inside had been expecting you.

The sinking of the Titanic on April 15, 1912, brought death to 1,513 people.

Ilse Koch Case Action Bounces Back To Germany

Senate Probers Score Easing Of Sentence; German Courts
Can Act Now

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The case of Ilse Koch, the Nazis' human-skin lampshade fancier, bounced back to Germany today.

The Ferguson Senate investigating committee reported that it could find no way to get the army to restore the life sentence which a review board cut to four years, and suggested that the German civilian courts take over the job.

In a report on its probe of the leniency granted the widow of a one-time commander of the dread Buchenwald prison, the Ferguson committee pointed out that Frau Koch was tried only for mistreating "non-Germans."

The report declared that German courts now could prosecute her for crimes against Germans without running afoul of the "double jeopardy" bar.

The Senate group headed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), labeled the easing of her penalty to four years as "not justified," but found that the army holds that it is powerless to overrule its review board.

So the committee suggested: "The German courts might well try Ilse Koch under their law for crimes committed against Germans."

The report went on to assert that if the German people act, "it would then be the duty" of the U. S. Army officials to help the civilian prosecutors by turning over record of the Buchenwald war crimes trials.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CREEP

Lou Little, Columbia's great football coach, once kept a big lummo on the squad all season in the vain hope that he could teach him the fundamentals of blocking and tackling. His varsity line averaged 188 pounds; the lummo weighed 210. "All that beef going to waste," Little would moan. But the lummo, patient, willing, eager to please, simply couldn't learn.

In a skull practice before the season's final game with Dartmouth, Little suddenly pointed at the lummo and demanded, "You, there! What would you do if we had the ball on their five-yard line, fourth down, and thirty seconds left to play—with Columbia trailing by two points?"

The lummo pondered briefly, and then answered, "I'd move down to the end of the bench, Mr. Little, so I could see better."

Fishermen's lies are an old story up on Cape Cod, where they take a stern view on prevarication. The town record of Eastham contains this entry, dated 1661: "Jno. Harper was fined one pound for lying about a whale!"

WOMAN CELEBRATES
CHRISTMAS, 105TH
BIRTHDAY SAME DAY

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—When you get to be a hundred and five, the old country begins to look pretty good.

That's probably the main reason Eliza "Granny" Dent, would like to return to Devonshire, England, where she was born in 1843.

Granny came to the United States when she was still a spry 60 and Christmas Day she celebrated her 105th birthday at the McDonough nursing home in nearby Shaler township.

She was able to move around enough to read her Christmas cards and to sip a little beer and wine. Granny likes to dance but she never has smoked in her life. Her last visit home—to England—was 15 years ago.

Al Borio Leaves For Buying Trip To Hollywood

Al Borio of Van Fleet & Borio, offices in the Union Trust Bldg., has left for his annual buying trip to Hollywood, California. While in Hollywood, Mr. Borio, will buy merchandise and study current and coming styles for men.

All merchandise purchased will be new and different, such as shown on the west coast: Gabardines for spring and year round wear in HOLLYWOOD FIESTA COLORS; Tropical Worsteds; summer suitings in the new shades: Mexican wine, Virginia copper, Fawn Bwn, Heather Green and Heather Gold. (These shades also available in gabardines.)

He will also purchase unique and different sport shirts, such as found in Hollywood or southern California only. These shirts are designed and manufactured in Hollywood and are different than the Eastern types. Also silk and wool neck-wear that are different and as only Hollywood shows them.

Sport coatings in rough tweeds and also the new light weight sport coat which can be worn on hot summer days. This is a typical Hollywood Sport Coat, light in weight but durable in wear—and is becoming very popular in this part of the country. Shown in array of bright Mexican colors.

Mr. Borio, will make a thorough study of both Town and Country wear. (Dress and Sport) and will be glad to answer any questions pertaining to the coming styles for 1949, upon his return from Hollywood after February 10, 1949.

"BALANCED MEALS"

Scientific cooks or dietitians tell us that meals should be balanced. They mean that each meal should have proper amounts of protein, carbohydrate, fat, vitamins and minerals. Carbohydrate is a pretty big word but it means starch or sugar.

Protein is the most important of the list. Each meal should have some animal protein and some vegetable protein.

Animal protein is supplied by milk, meat and eggs.

Vegetable protein works much better if it is combined with animal protein. Experts tell us that the two kinds of protein should be in the same meal. It is better to eat macaroni and cheese together than to eat the macaroni for dinner and the cheese for supper.

Meat and potatoes, pork and beans, cakes and sausage, stuffed turkey, cheese sandwich, oyster stew with crackers, spaghetti and meat balls, mince pie, angel food cake, coffee with cream and sugar, and ice cream are a few of the many combinations.

fall into the hands of irresponsibles.

Holland's position is an extremely difficult one. The suggestion has been voiced that she might be expelled from the United Nations, which in turn might be expelled from the United Nations, which in turn might be a death-blow to the Benelux set-up and perhaps the whole of western Europe.

It is for this reason that Britain is not pressing the case too hard.

Most of Denouncing
Australia, India and Soviet Russia have done most of the denouncing. In the long run, the speed and vehemence with which Russia's Jacob Malik has taken up the cudgels in behalf of the Indonesian people may react to Holland's benefit.

He has charged the Dutch with attempting to create a "puppet" government in Indonesia. At the same time he has blasted the so-called good offices commission of the United Nations as "ineffective and toothless."

This of course blinks to undeniable facts.

One is that the Soviets have their own "puppet" governments all over the place. The other is that Russia even refuses to recognize the U. N. special commission for the Balkans which also has no teeth but has managed to keep the Greek civil war at least within reasonable bounds.

In the light of its own performance, therefore, Russia's attitude seems to lose much of its validity.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

years ago—in Egypt, in Greece and in Asia and yet we have not learned a lesson. Some of the things that Archeologists turn up at every whiff of give evidence of a far greater civilization that has existed on the earth. The work in the United States representing the last one hundred years should suggest to the boastful modern that our civilization is as nothing compared to the history of creation. We have not paid any attention to the fact that Soviet Russia was able to play a great part in the defeat of Nazi Germany by the ability of the Cossacks to win their way from Stalingrad through the snow against the Panzer troops of Germany.

The mind of the modern may be able to create mechanical devices and paint, if you will, mechanical pictures, but the modern had better remember this—that the mind of man has always been equal to the task of directing mechanical devices.

Think Truman Made Mistake

Reference To House Un-American Committee As "Dead" Is Assailed

OTHER NEWS OF NATIONAL EVENTS

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Capitol Hill thinks President Truman made a mistake when he referred to the House un-American activities committee as a "dead" committee.

The indictment of Alger Hiss by a federal grand jury on charges of perjury has served to strengthen the position of the House group, which first brought charges of Soviet espionage in the United States government.

However, it's true that an attempt to abolish the present committee will be made when Congress convenes January 3. In fact, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D, New York), has said that he will lead a drive to do away with the group.

There isn't too much chance that these efforts are going to succeed. The best consensus now is that the motion will be defeated, probably by an overwhelming majority.

Even if a motion to abolish the committee is rejected by the House, an attempt may be made to cripple the group's investigative powers by reducing its funds.

With public opinion being what it is expected to be, the committee's supporters are confident that a sufficient appropriation will be voted the committee, although the funds may be below what the current Congress approved.

Soviet "Offer"
Russian propagandists assert that the Berlin blockade could be settled "very simply," but they make it plain that the settlement would have to be on Communist terms.

The USSR Information Bulletin, one of the principal Soviet propaganda organs in the United States, declares:

"The Soviet government is merely demanding that there should be no second currency in Berlin—for a second currency creates an impossible situation in the Soviet occupation zone.

"Moreover, a method has been proposed by which an agreement could be reached without injuring anyone's prestige.

"This method consists of the simultaneous lifting of transport restrictions and the withdrawal of the western mark from circulation in Berlin."

Some Washington observers see in this line of propaganda a weakening in the customarily arrogant Russian position and evidence of a Soviet hope that a Berlin compromise can be effected without injury to Red "prestige."

Service Bickering
Inter-service bickering is worse than it was before the so-called unification. To quash the wrangling and achieve an effective merger of the army, navy and air force, a supreme chief of staff may be created.

Reports have it that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower might take a leave of absence from his position as president of Columbia university to set the military house in order. It is believed the beloved "Ike" could get the services working as a team.

After "Ike" gets the system going, the report continues, Gen. Omar Bradley, now army chief of staff, will step into the job.

The supreme chief plan would require legislation. Congress is certainly sympathetic to the idea of achieving the unification it ordered more than a year ago. It will probably strip the service secretaries of their many helpers, and give Forrestal an under-secretary.

Miners Remains Independent
Prospects for a reaffiliation of John L. Lewis' miners with the AFL have grown increasingly faint in view of Lewis' latest broadside against the Federation.

The UMW chief accuses the AFL of "appeasement" on the issue of repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. The latest issue of the UMW District 50 News contends that AFL leaders are talking about revision of the labor-management act, instead of fighting for its outright repeal.

Members of the AFL executive council were assailed by the publication as "18 throatsbottoms," who got their titles of vice president restored at the AFL's recent convention in Cincinnati.

Fire Damages East Side Home

Loss Of Around $1,500 Sustained In Blaze Early Christmas Eve

Fire, which is believed to have been caused when a thermostat in the heating system became stuck causing the furnace to become overheated, caused damage of around $1,500 at the home of Alfred DeAugustine, of 810 Morton street, at 5:45 p. m., December 24. Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reports.

There was no one at home at the time the fire started and it had gained considerable headway when discovered. Four fire companies were summoned to the scene by an alarm from Box 413.

Two other fire calls were answered Christmas eve, neither causing any material damage. At 5:25 p. m. No. 5 fire company was called to Hamilton street, where it was found John Wasilewski had been driving his car with the emergency brake on, the brakes catching fire. No action was required.

At 10:50 p. m., firemen were called to the J. and L. restaurant at 144 East Long avenue, where a short circuit occurred in the lighting fixtures of a show window. Damage of $10 resulted.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

FOR YOUR LETTER WRITING

"For stationery I am about to have made, please tell me what type I should choose—double or single sheet? How should my name appear at the top (I am a married woman)? Should my address and telephone number be included? Also I transact business by mail with department stores, banks, mail order houses, doctors. What salutation should be used to all of these? What endings? What signature?"

Answer: First of all, be conservative in your choice of letter paper. Unusual shapes and glaring colors are always in bad taste. A good stationer will assist you in choosing a good quality, fitting your pocketbook. Single or double sheets are equally correct, according to your individual desire. Single sheets are more practical for the usual family use, since they are suitable for household business letters, as well as for social correspondence.

Your full name—Mrs. John Smith, address and telephone number may appear at the top and they usually do, with the possible exception of the telephone number which is optional. The more social-looking double sheet may have this heading also; but it is more usual to have only the initials or the family crest, if any.

Salutation: "Dear Sir"—when addressing your letter to a firm. "Dear Sir"—when addressing it to an individual. These are the most widely used in business. For a more personalized letter, "Dear Mr. Smith" is preferable, as well as "Dear Dr. Blank" to your physician.

Close a business letter with "Yours very truly" or "Very truly yours" and your signature "Mary Smith" under which put your married name in full or at the left in parenthesis (Mrs. John Smith). A married woman should not sign herself "Mrs." except in notes to household domestics, to whom she signs "Mrs. Smith" and on hotel registers whereon she is "Mrs. John Smith."

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Jet Planes To Aid Census Of Ducks

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—Jet planes and high-speed cameras developed during the war promise to make the tough job of counting the nation's wild ducks and geese an easy one, the U. S. fish and wildlife service reports.

The federal agency already has made one experiment using an Air Force jet fighter plane and pronounced it "100 per cent successful."

A jet plane travels so fast its engine noise trails the aircraft and hence does not frighten ducks. The speed of a jet plane enables an accurate survey of large areas in a matter of minutes.

A Lockheed F-80 "Shooting Star" made two runs over the grasslands section of the San Joaquin Valley. The fliers charted a 22-mile strip of marsh in three minutes and three seconds.

Flying at more than 400 miles an hour, the jet whizzed low over the marshland at an altitude of 300 feet. The plane was equipped with a Sonnet S-7 camera, a device which takes a ribbon picture 9 1/2 inches wide, showing detail never obtained in high-altitude aerial photography.

At present, most duck-counting is done from the ground. Conventional airplanes frighten birds from their feeding grounds and present methods of census-taking do not include an aerial camera. An "eye estimate" of ducks is not nearly as accurate as the photographs.

CHURCH BURNS

JOHNSONBURG, Pa., Dec. 27.—The Presbyterian church, oldest edifice in Johnsonburg, was practically destroyed by fire Sunday, entailing a loss estimated at $200,000. About 75 persons attending Sunday school marched out of the burning structure after they were warned by Lloyd Ohle, superintendent. Several firemen were injured, none seriously.

The states of Alabama, Connecticut, New Mexico and South Dakota have women secretaries of state.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Most mothers find the characteristic untidiness of an adolescent son or daughter's room pretty hard to take. Often there will be a good deal of nagging or even a martyr-like cleaning up of the room once in a while. To the youngsters this all seems quite unnecessary, and they are happy in the midst of the mess.

One positive method that has worked is worth considering if untidiness really bothers you and yet you don't want to nag. Try to find something that will fit into the youngster's room and will be appreciated. A very nice picture, an attractive chair or a dressing table are possibilities. Whatever it is, it should be pleasing and seem out of place in the mess and confusion of the room. If you have chosen well and you can refrain from making the suggestion yourself, your youngster may want to make the rest of the room fit for the newly added object.

Naturally, this won't always work but it's worth giving a try. And if it doesn't work at once you can comfort yourself in the thought that most young people eventually come to the point where neatness and order are appealing.

Charges Some Axis Leaders Executed

Rep. Lemke Charges Executions Took Place Because "They Knew Too Much"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Rep. Lemke (R, N.D.), charged today that some axis leaders were executed "because they knew too much... their lips had to be sealed."

Lemke intimated that he believed they were executed because allied leaders were possibly afraid they might be implicated in responsibility for the war.

The North Dakota Republican stated: "Future history may reveal that some of these were destroyed because they knew too much of the devilry of World War II."

"History may prove that our own wings were not as white as some of those responsible for World War II would have us believe."

Lemke's statement was embodied in a holiday greeting to his constituents in which he expressed the hope that "in spite of passion, emotion and falsehood, the truth, in the end, will out."

He added: "No Angels Among War Lords" "There was no angels among the war lords of World War II. Brutality was rampant and practiced by all warring nations."

Lemke cited no names and did not indicate whether he referred to Japanese or German leaders, or both, or on what he based his charge.

However, Lemke has inveighed in the past against what he called the "internationalists" and claimed they were responsible for American entry in World War II.

In his statement, he charged that "the liquidators" were the "warmongers" and should receive the "universal condemnation" of the world.

Lemke asserted that in war "the conquerors always assume that they are the just and righteous ones to pass judgment upon the vanquished."

But, he added, "history tells us that the conquerors were, as a rule, just as culpable as the vanquished."

Will Urge Red
Probe Efforts
Be Continued

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Rep. Mundt (R) S. D., revealed today that House spy probes will urge strongly that the Soviet espionage investigation be resumed in the new Congress convening January 3.

The acting chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee said there were many questions that have been left unanswered by the current probe. He said the Democrats will be urged to push the inquiry when they take over the committee.

Duggan Furnished Names
Mundt's disclosure came as Attorney General Clark revealed that Laurence Duggan furnished the Justice department with the names of several persons who had approached him 10 years ago on behalf of a Communist spy ring. Duggan, a former State department aide, leaped or fell to his death from his New York office a week ago. Clark said the Justice department issued a special statement giving him a clear bill of health after his death "because we felt it was due the man's family."

Clark explained that the persons named by Duggan already had been heard by the New York federal grand jury and that he was under the impression they had testified before the House group.

The attorney general said none of them was working for the government at the time and added that they are not now federally employed. He explained that they since had renounced communism.

Duggan was in charge of the American Republics division in the State department at the time that secret documents allegedly were purloined and given to Whittaker Chambers, confessed ex-Communist courier.

May Have Testified
Mundt said he could not say whether the persons referred to by Clark had testified before his unit unless he had their names.

Mundt meanwhile said there were many "loose ends" of the committee's probe that still should be pursued. For one thing, he pointed out, it has never been determined who was the "courier" who carried information to the Communists between 1938 and 1941.

Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, who touched off the spy investigation last July 31, told the committee that her activities as a spy "courier" began in 1941, three years after Whittaker Chambers terminated his "courier" job for the Communists.

It was important, Mundt emphasized, to determine what went on in the three crucial years before American entry into the war.

The congressman expressed the belief also that there were additional persons in the government implicated with the Communists other than those mentioned by Chambers and Bentley.

Man Is Found
Unconscious On County Line St.

Austin J. Anderson, 613 County Line street, was found lying unconscious at 7:23 p. m. Saturday, at County Line and Pine street. Tuth Teets, 603 County Line street, summoned police. An ambulance who took Anderson to the Jameson Memorial Hospital where it was found he had a fractured skull and was in critical condition. How he became injured is not known, except that he may have fallen on the street.

MEN WITH BAR

While walking home from the Eintracht club about 12:30 a. m. Christmas night, Mike Hartman, 809 East Main street, was struck with an iron bar, welded by one of two young men at Taylor and Neal streets. He laid there for some time. However, he made his way home. About noon, Joe Eddy, a neighbor, had Hartman taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where 14 stitches were required to close the wound. He could not give a good description of his assailants.

GOP Plans To Organize On January 3

Notices To Be Sent Out For Conference Before Congress Convenes

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—GOP "young Turks" in the Senate who want to postpone settling the minority leadership until after the 81st Congress convenes on Jan. 3 are in for a turnaround today.

Notices are expected to go out today or tomorrow calling a conference of all Republican Senators for the morning of Jan. 3. The new Democratic controlled Congress meets at noon that day. The Senate Republican meeting will be the last of a series of organizational sessions by members of both parties in each house. They start Dec. 30 with a meeting of the Senate Republican policy committee. On Dec. 31 Senate Democrats and House Republicans will caucus. And on Jan. 1 — New Year's Day — House Democrats meet.

"Token" Gesture
Disagreement over the timing of the Senate Republican decision on leadership apparently revolved around opposition to Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, as GOP policy chairman. But most Republicans regarded any opposition to Taft as purely a "token" gesture.

Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., chairman of the 42-senator conference, is insisting that Republicans must organize themselves before the Senate meets on Jan. 3 to transact business in an orderly way and meet any emergency.

One such emergency would arise, Republicans say, if the Democrats challenge the seating of Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich. One administration spokesman said there was not plan at this time to carry to the Senate floor the election case of former Rep. Frank Hook, whom Ferguson defeated by a narrow margin.

Would Be Typical
But a move to stop Ferguson "at the door" would be typical of the kind of sudden business for which their party must be prepared, senior Republicans assert. They feel that simply for the sake of good organization and protection they cannot defer setting up some kind of operating machinery no later than Jan. 3.

The younger anti-Taft bloc, it was reported, wants to wait about five days after Congress convenes before sitting down for a free-for-all discussion of the leadership problem.

Timing of Millikin's notice for the GOP conference was important because a change in the GOP's own rules will have to be made to allow Taft to continue as policy chief. And those same rules require advance notice of one week on any amendments.

Thus the meeting notice must go out by tomorrow to conform and permit a conference one week hence on Jan. 3.

Seventh Ward

Registers First At Willard, O., YMCA

J. B. Butts, retired Baltimore and Ohio Engineer Has No. 1 Card, May 11, 1906

Returning from Willard, O., on Friday evening, J. H. McCann, 913 West Clayton street, engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, brought a message of "Merry Christmas" to J. B. Butts of Harbor road from Mr. Jenkins, secretary of the YMCA at Willard.

Recently, Mr. McCann read in the Willard Times that Mr. Butts, familiarly known as "Ben", took out membership in the YMCA of that city over 40 years ago.

According to Mr. Butts, he registered at Willard YMCA taking out card No. 1 on May 11, 1906, and still holds membership there. At that time Mr. Butts was engineer, and J. W. Miller was his fireman, and they stayed there the first night for their layover at that terminal, before their return the next day.

The YMCA at Willard is now three times as large as it was in 1906, and many railroaders stay there from many cities, until called to make their return trip. At that time, the price there for a bed for 24 hours was 10 cents a person.

Mr. Butts was in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for 40 years, and retired from service December 31, 1938, almost 10 years ago. He resided in the seventh ward for many years and says he is feeling fine. He is a member of the Mahoning Methodist church. For several years before Mr. Butts' retirement, Mr. McCann was his fireman.

Youth Fellowship Enjoys Yule Party

At Mahoning Methodist church, members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship society gathered for a Yule party during the weekend. The occasion was sponsored by the senior group for the intermediates.

J. Allan Bretell showed pictures of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad exhibition, also movies of other interesting subjects.

The group enjoyed playing 'shuffledeckard' and other games. Kenneth Sicksels was in charge of the recreation program. Don Sturgis was general chairman of arrangements.

A number of young folks from the first Christian and First Baptist churches were guests.

A delicious lunch was served in the dining room by the social committee, headed by Miss Maxine Taylor.

Class Distributes Christmas Gifts

Members of the Davis Bible class of Mahoning Methodist church gathered on Thursday evening and packed a number of baskets in the Sunday school room, which were distributed among needy families in the seventh ward.

This distribution was made possible by the contributing of good things by members of the congregation and Sunday school. Committee in charge of the project was Mrs. Milton Butts, Mrs. Raymond Tanner, Mrs. James Kennedy, Mrs. Henry Hamilton, Mrs. Lila Thayer.

The committee desires to thank all who helped to make this event possible.

Mabel Wilson Lodge To Install Officers

At St. Margaret's hall, North Liberty street, members of Mabel Wilson lodge No. 567 will gather for their regular meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

New officers will be installed for the ensuing year and December birthday anniversaries of members will be honored. The social committee for the evening will be Mrs. William M. King and Mrs. Philip Hogan.

SEVENTH WARD NOTES

On Tuesday, at noon, members of the Seventh Ward Civic club will assemble for their regular meeting in Hyde's Drug store.

It is reported that the thermometer registered five below zero on West Pittsburgh road Sunday morning, and two below on Sixth street at 8:30 a. m. Coldest morning this winter.

At Mahoning Methodist church the pastor will speak on Wednesday evening at 7:30 on the subject "The Closed Book". On Friday evening at 11:15 a "watch night" service will begin and continue until midnight New Year's Eve.

Miss Genevieve Moss of the revenue department in Harrisburg and Kenneth Moss of Pennsylvania Military college, Chester, have returned, after spending the Christmas vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Moss of West Clayton street.

LUCAS-YOUNG

EVENING WEDDING
At a beautiful candlelight wedding, 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, December 24, Miss Gloria Warren Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lucas, of Boston avenue, New Castle, became the bride of Robert Dickinson Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Young, of Grove City.

The couple exchanged vows before a palm and flower banked altar of the First Baptist church, before a large gathering of friends and relatives, with Rev. Oliver W. Hurst officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given by her father in marriage, was lovely in a gown of ivory slipper satin, fashioned with a sheer yoke outlined with a bertha collar of Chantilly lace, long pointed sleeves and a fitted bodice. The full skirt was styled with set in panels of continuous rows of Chantilly lace, and ended in a long train. Her finger-tip veil of imported French illusion edged in Chantilly lace fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a colonel bouquet of white roses, centered with a white orchid.

As maid of honor, her sister, Miss Jane Lucas, was attired in a blue taffeta gown. She wore a headress of pink carnations and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Miss Molly Webster, of Grove City, as bridesmaid, wore a rose taffeta gown, styled similarly to the maid of honor's and wore a headress and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Little Miss Mary Young, of Grove City, as flower girl, also wore pink and carried a basket of pink flowers and wore some in her hair.

Harvey Young served as his son's best man and the ushers were Robert Lucas, brother of the bride, Joseph Hartman Jr., Richard Webster, of Grove City, and Robert Wise, of Staunton, Va.

Miss Lena Mae McConnell, as soloist, sang "If I Could Tell You" and Greig's "I Love Thee and 'The Pledge', accompanied at the organ by Mrs. W. H. Lulkaert, who played a half hour recital of organ music preceding the ceremony.

Following the congratulatory period at the church there was a reception for 100 guests at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Carl Paisley, of Grove City, and Miss Virginia McKelvey, of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. William Roberts, of New Castle, were aides.

Upon their return from a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the newlyweds will take up residence in their newly furnished apartment in Dayton, O., where they will stay until the completion of Mr. Young's training, in June.

Mrs. Young is a graduate of Knoxville, Tenn., high school. She attended Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va., and received her B. S. degree from the University of Virginia in June '48. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma and Sigma Phi Lambda sororities. She was formerly a teacher at Youngstown East high school.

Mr. Young is a graduate of Grove City high school and of Grove City College. He is a veteran of World War II and is now employed with the National Cash Register Co., of this city.

Four Found Dead In Rented Cabin

Mysterious Christmas Tragedy At Mountain Resort In California Being Probed

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Dec. 27.—(INS)—A physician's wife was placed under technical arrest today after her husband, two of their children and her aged mother-in-law were found dead in a rented cabin.

The physician's wife, Mrs. Mary Margaret Schendorf, and a son, Jerry, 10, were found ill but alive in the mysterious Christmas tragedy at the Big Bear lake mountain resort.

Authorities said all appeared to have been poisoned. They added that autopsies were inconclusive and that no indications of poison were found in the bodies.

San Bernardino officials planned to make tests for arsenic and other poisons today.

The post mortem established the fact that the four victims were not asphyxiated by carbon monoxide.

Those found dead in the deepening mystery were Dr. Jerome G. Schendorf, prominent Santa Barbara, Cal., physician; his son, Tommy, 8; his daughter, Judy, 6, and his mother, Mrs. Josephine Schendorf, of Chicago.

Mrs. Schendorf was said to be only slightly ill and seemed to be suffering mainly from shock and dehydration. But her son, Jerry, was near death. Both were in San Bernardino county hospital.

The physician's wife was placed under technical arrest after San Bernardino county chemist Ferd Freusel reported that traces of arsenic were found in the contents of Jerry's stomach.

After treatment, Mrs. Schendorf told authorities she remembered nothing from Christmas eve until she saw "the blue light of early (Sunday) morning coming through the window".

Oil Production In Rocky Mountains Breaks Records

CASPER, Wyo., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Industry spokesmen said in Casper today that oil production in the Rocky Mountain region broke all previous records in 1948.

An estimated 85 million barrels of oil were produced in Wyoming, Montana and Colorado this year.

Wyoming led with an estimated 55 million barrels for the year.

Colorado production jumped by 12 thousand barrels daily with completion of the pipeline from Rangely to Salt Lake City.

A total of nearly 200 wildcat wells was drilled in the four-state region of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Montana.

ANTHRACITE SALES SPURRED BY WEATHER

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Anthracite sales boomed today in Pennsylvania's hard coal area as the mercury hovered around zero.

A reading of 12 below zero was recorded at Tobyhanna in the Pocono mountains. Thermometers registered three above in Scranton this morning but ranged down to 10 below in outlying communities.

Accelerated production in the mines, hit earlier by mild weather, was forecast by the coal industry.

COLUMBUS—Ohio's sand-tone is used extensively in the manufacture of grinders, and the state produces more such stones than all other states combined.

Arctic Gales Delay Attempts To Rescue Fliers

(International News Service)

Fierce Arctic gales that have wrecked all other rescue attempts forced cancellation today of another effort to snatch 13 marooned American airmen from their perilous perch on a Greenland ice cap.

Each passing hour indicated that the fate of the isolated fliers—some of whom have been marooned in the bitter Arctic cold for more than two weeks—may rest with the aircraft carrier Saipan.

The Saipan now is ploughing through heavy seas of the North Atlantic in a race to reach a point from which it can launch helicopters with a reasonable chance of reaching the downed fliers, and evacuating them.

The latest rescue try today was made by a C-82 "flying box car" towing a glider from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Greenland. Bad weather forced the C-82 crew to give up the flight and return to Goose Bay.

A possibility existed that still another rescue flight might be made during the day from bases in Greenland itself. Weather conditions were so poor, however, that the project was termed "chancy".

Warner And Swasey Employees Strike

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Only clerical and engineering employees were permitted to enter the strikebound Warner & Swasey company plant as the firm's 1,800 employees staged Cleveland's largest strike of 1948.

More than 100 pickets gathered at plant gates last night following a strike order from Local 1233 of the International Association of Machinists.

The walkout was called after the union negotiating committee voted unanimously against further sessions with the company.

The action followed nearly continuous negotiations since October.

State Education Convention Opens

Three-Day Annual Sessions Start In Harrisburg, Program Being Considered

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania State Education Association's legislative program for consideration by the general assembly in 1949 will be whipped into shape during the three-day annual convention opening today at Harrisburg.

Approximately 2,500 teachers, representing more than 59,000 public school instructors, are slated to endorse a increased pay plan and liberalized retirement benefits.

Delegates to the 90th annual meeting also will air problems involving teacher welfare and professional ethics, activities and planning.

Notable Speakers
Highlighting the agenda of scheduled speakers are Gov. James H. Duff and Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas; Mel Studebaker, of Erie, president of the National Education Association, and Francis J. Brown, secretary of President Truman's commission on higher education.

The three-day meeting will be under the supervision of PSEA President N. Eugene Shoemaker, of Red Lion.

The announcement of the results of balloting for officers for 1949 will close the meeting Wednesday.

NINE DEAD IN PITTSBURGH
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The total today was nine dead and 49 injured in accidents over the Christmas week-end in Western Pennsylvania.

Auto accidents caused the death of five persons. One man died in a train wreck and three other fatalities were caused by fire.

See Governor Duff Opposed To Tax Proposals

Revision Of State Business Tax Structure To Meet Governor's Opposition

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Revision of Pennsylvania's business tax structure as proposed by a special survey group today appeared certain of drawing opposition from Gov. James H. Duff.

The broad program, drafted by a committee headed by retiring Commerce Secretary Orus J. Matthews, recommended switching bases for calculating taxes from capital values to income, imposition of a one half of one per cent tax on unincorporated business and activities, repeal of the controversial soft drinks tax.

Should the General Assembly indicate favor for the tax committee's proposals, strong opposition would be forthcoming from the governor because he has said he opposed any change in what he called general taxes.

Has Supported Gas Tax Hike
He has supported the proposed two cent hike in the state's gas which, under a constitutional provision, is limited to highway construction and maintenance and certain aeronautical uses. The governor believes the money absolutely essential to realization of the state's multi-million dollar highway program.

The governor also will resist attempts to weaken the Act of 1947 giving political sub-divisions authority to tax all items not levied on by the state.

Legislators also will find no support from Duff should they rally support for a general sales tax or a flat personal income levy.

Matthews proposed one half of one per cent tax on unincorporated businesses appeared headed for legislative oblivion should it be introduced in the assembly because it unquestionably would conflict with Duff's "home rule" act which gives broad tax powers to political sub-divisions.

The Matthews proposal's constitutionality was questioned by a spokesman of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and the Pennsylvania Grange.

Three Persons Are Seriously Burned In Jersey City

Fire Routs 100 Persons From Apartments In Jersey City Early Today

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Three persons were burned, two of them critically, and 100 persons were routed from their homes early today when a three-alarm fire spread through three cold-water flat buildings in Jersey City.

Bitter cold made the fire-fighting hazardous, freezing the water almost as soon as it streamed from the hoses.

As the residents of the three buildings fled to the icy streets, some of them in their nightclothes, the Red Cross disaster relief committee dispatched 20 cots and 50 blankets to the scene.

The fire broke out in the flat of milkman James O'Brien.

Mrs. Mary O'Brien who lives on the first floor and her son, Frank, were seriously burned and are in critical condition at Jersey City Medical Center.

O'Brien himself was also burned but not seriously. He was treated at the hospital and released.

Firemen said the blaze was caused by a defective stove which threw a geyser of blazing kerosene over Mrs. O'Brien and her child.

The flames raced through the hallways and ceiling of the six-family flat and thence to adjoining buildings.

BROWNING OF EVERGREENS NATURE'S PRUNING METHOD

Fall browning of evergreens need cause no alarm, since it is merely nature's way of pruning these trees.

The amount of browning may vary considerably. It is a natural shedding of the older leaves or branches, a condition comparable to the dropping of leaves of deciduous plants.

Browning has been observed generally on arborvitae and cypress trees, and on some pines. Extensive periods of hot, dry weather may contribute to the loss of the evergreen needles. These ornamentals require several good soakings of water prior to heavy freezes.

CAUTION SUGGESTED WITH COSTS AT PEAK

With farm land prices highest in history, the farm costs also at record levels, caution may be a good watchword on the farm, according to Kenneth Hood, extension specialist in the agricultural economics from Pennsylvania State College. Mr. Hood spoke recently at the annual meeting of the Jersey Breeders at Liberty Grange hall.

Play it safe, he advises, watch debts, don't overexpand, don't speculate—sell when ready, watch inventories—don't overstock, reinvest in the farm business.

Farm labor costs, average about 14 per cent above 1947, and may go higher in 1949 as a natural consequence of inflation and because of competition from other industry. Hence, additional labor-saving equipment may be worth while. As costs stay up and prices ease off in some commodities, all farming operations may be placed on an economical and efficient basis—if farmers are to stay in business. One safeguard, against possible adverse economic trend is through improved marketing methods, while emphasis on quality production, careful handling, and efficient sales. Production needs to be geared to market needs.

As examples, he suggests: Early-farrowed pigs, early-hatched chicks, quality feeder cattle headed for the late summer market, and more fall retail.

Direct marketing at the farm and through roadside stands, retail routes, and farmer markets give the producer a greater share of the consumer dollar, and give the consumer—fresh produce of good quality.

LAYING FLOCKS NEEDS PROPER VENTILATION

Whether poultrymen use the open front system or restricted ventilation in their laying houses, the important point is to provide the laying flock with the right amount of fresh air.

Uninsulated houses often use the open front system, where the warmer, insulated buildings more often have restricted ventilation. In uninsulated buildings where no auxiliary heat is provided, slot ventilators and windows provide ventilation, but in bad weather windows and sliding curtain frames have to be closed, but only temporarily. Moisture given off by the birds must be eliminated or wet litter results.

Air must carry out the moisture, and warm air can do that better than cold air. Hence, in uninsulated houses there must be a greater flow of air—more ventilation to carry off the moisture. If litter stays dry, the ventilation generally is satisfactory, but if it gets soggy the ventilation system may need to be adjusted.

BONING MEAT WILL SAVE LOCKER SPACE

Meat takes only a little more than half as much space if boned, a factor worth considering where it is to be held in lockers or home freezer units. Soup stock can be made from the bones and canned.

Cut the meat into pieces of desired size, and wrap them with waterproof, heavy kraft paper, waxed on one side. Freezer burn can be avoided if each piece is amply wrapped. Each step in the process is described in a Circular "Freeze Meat and Poultry" which is free of charge to anyone making a request to the Agricultural Extension Association, 208 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Somerset Man Is 'Driver Of Month'

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Roy J. Kinsinger, 39, of Somerset R. D. 2, who drove 1,260,000 miles without an accident, has been named Pennsylvania's "driver of the month."

The driver of the month contest is a feature of the courtesy and safety campaign being conducted by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association to stimulate interest in highway safety and reduce accidents.

A gold pin and scroll of honor were presented to Kinsinger by Ross Rinard, acting Burgess of Somerset, at a regional meeting of the governor's highway safety advisory committee at the Somerset high school.

Kinsinger's safety record was made over an 18-year period, driving between Pittsburgh, New York and Baltimore, an average of 70,000 miles a year.

TRAIN TESTER GETS PAID FOR ANTICS

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(INS)—Howard Chandler, 28, has a job that most kids would give their eye-teeth for.

Chandler is in charge of the miniature-train proving grounds of the A. C. Gilbert Company in New Haven.

He tests toy trains eight hours a day checking their performance and ferreting out any technical bugs.

In his capacity as train tester, Chandler estimates he has operated miniature trains over one million 250 thousand scale miles.

Just like the postman who goes walking on his day off, Chandler's hobby is operating his own model railroad empire at home.

Just for variety, every once in a while he goes down to the New Haven railroad yards to watch the full-scale trains roar by.

Testimonial Tonight Will Honor Football-Cross Country Champs

Public To Acclaim Athletic Champions

Titans And All-Stars Hope To Pack Washington Floor

Tonight will go down in New Castle athletic history, and may never be written again—public acclaim for two championship teams—football and cross country.

Never before has New Castle ever planned a testimonial of this nature. Much can be said, much has already been said of the greatness of these two fine teams. More will be said tonight.

"Thanks Boys"

The people of New Castle have a chance tonight to say "Thanks boys for a job well done". The cost is very low $1.00 per person for the big Cathedral show and dance. It is hoped that a packed Cathedral auditorium will be waiting to greet the champions as they leave their banquet tables at the Elks Club and head for their just acclaim and awards of wrist watches.

Mere words cannot begin to tell of the esteem that this community has for the young men of New Castle High who have brought honor and glory not only to their school but the city of New Castle.

Dinner At 6:30

General Chairman Verne Carr and his Elks committee have done a swell job of arranging the details. The evening begins for the young men and their lady friends at 6:30 o'clock at the Elks Club. It will end around 1 a. m. at the Cathedral ball room, to the lilting strains of Chris Cross and his famous recording orchestra.

The valiant young men who brought the WPIAL Class AA football championship and the young men who brought the State cross country championship home from State College will never forget Monday, December 27th, as long as they live.

100 At Dinner

Places will be set for 100 at the Elks Club dining room. There will only be a few speeches following the repast. The boys will save the speech-making for the public demonstration at The Cathedral when the awards are passed out to the young stars.

The Elks committee has gone to quite some expense to bring New Castle the Chris Cross orchestra tonight. He is much in demand and has one of the very best dance bands in the country today. In connection with his dance repertoire Chris has an elegant show to present also.

We'll be seeing you tonight at The Cathedral, and we do mean, you, and you, and you.

City-County Games At Arena Tonight

Two Games At Arena, One At Ellwood City, Three-Way Tie For Lead

City-County basketball fans will enjoy two games at the Arena on Grove street tonight and one at Ellwood City. The first game at the Arena starts at 7:30 o'clock, and will find the co-league leading East Brook Boosters playing the Acelasian Club.

The second game at the Arena will have the Eagles playing the Wampum Merchants.

At Ellwood City, the co-league leading Elks of New Castle will play the Ellwood City VFW team. One of the two teams will be out of first place after tonight. The game starts at 8 o'clock.

The Wednesday card in the league will have the following games listed: Ecclesiastical at Ellwood City, Elks at East Brook and Eagles at Wampum. The Alpha Sigma Phi team of Westminster will be idle until after the holidays.

EDWARDS RESIGNS

AS REDSKINS COACH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Albert Glen "Turk" Edwards today resigned as head coach of the Washington Redskins professional football club and was appointed executive vice president.

George P. Marshall, the Redskins owner, in making the announcement said Edwards has been given full responsibility for the selection of a new head coach.

Edwards held the top coaching spot with the Redskins for three years. He has been with the Redskins since the club was founded in Boston in 1932.

Schroeder Given Top In Seeding

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27.—(INS)

California's Ted Schroeder, Davis cup star and the nation's second-ranked amateur, drew first seeding in the Sugar Bowl Invitational Tennis Tournament which opens at New Orleans Tuesday.

Schroeder will defend both the singles title and his share in the doubles crown—the fruit of his top-flight play in the tourney last year.

Meanwhile, another nationally prominent net star entered the roster today and promptly drew a number two seeding. He is Earl Coe of San Francisco, who ranks sixth in America's amateur tennis circles.

Victor Seixas of Philadelphia is seeded third for the three-day meet, and Gardner Mulloy of Miami, 8th ranked nationally, fourth.

Dukes And Tech In Garden Tilts

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)

Duke Moore's Duquesne Dukes, whose mental lapses have made close games of their last three winning contests, take on Rutgers at the Gardens in Pittsburgh tonight in the second half of a twin-bill.

In the opener Carnegie Tech opposer St. Vincent. This one is rated a toss up, but the tall Dukes are expected to make it four in a row with a decision over Rutgers.

Penn State fullback Joe Colone and Jack Kurkowski, University of Detroit halfback, have been traded by the Washington Redskins to the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Boston College will be a Penn State football opponent for the first time in 1949.

Fashions For Men, Young Men and Boys

Space is the biggest problem involved for the New Castle Optimists club as they once again bring New Castle to top-flight basketball treat Tuesday night. On that evening all roads lead to the Washington gym, where the Towering Titans of Westminster college engage the Lawrence County All-Stars. The preliminary game gets under way at seven and the main attraction should start around 8:30.

An interesting footnote on the game is the fact that Clyde Shaffer, Titan starting forward, and Don Mayberry, reserve center, will be renewing old acquaintances with many of the same cagers that they faced in county high school circles.

This is the third renewal of the classic which gives local cage fans an opportunity to see Grover Washbaugh's high-scoring, fast-moving charges in action against Lawrence county's best and at the same time chip in to help another hustling club, the Optimists, that has made rapid strides in its efforts to promote entertainment and hobbies for boys.

Star-Loaded

All-Star coaches Austin Cowmeadow and Paul Morrison have compiled a representative squad that not only has players from all portions of the county, but is also loaded with some of the best basketball talent ever assembled here. Carl Jameson of East Brook, Walt Kurler and Paul Johnson of Bessemer, Norb Borowicz of New Wilmington, and Bob Grinnen and Guy Bennett of Wampum, are former county high school stars on the squad who have seen action against Shaffer and Mayberry. Bennett is currently on the varsity at Geneva and has faced the Titans already this season while playing for the Covies.

Herb Colavincenzo and Jack Brandes are Ellwood members of the team that has been working out regularly in secret practice sessions for the big game. Ex-New Castle High greats and near greats on the squad include Don Watters, Pete Stack, Wayne Gray, Jimmy Janacek, Rags Gennock and Fred Wimer. Wimer, a recent addition to the All-Stars, is an experienced sharpshooter who has seen lots of action in collegiate competition as a member of the Rhode Island State machine and later as a top scorer for the Salem, W. Va., quintet.

Titans Practice

Coach Washbaugh has curtailed the vacation of his Titan hoopers so that they may have a practice session today to eliminate any holiday visions of turkey wings and mistletoe when they invade the Westminster gym. Westminster players hit the hoops often and accurately if they are to defeat the local aggregation. The Titans, McCullough, Wagner, Dembinski, Hyder and Shaffer and company have an additional motive to go all-out in the All-Star contest. This will be their last public demonstration of their latest offensive and defensive maneuvers that will be used Thursday night when the Titans clash with nationally ranked Louisville in one of the East's top cage attractions for that evening.

A top-notch preliminary game has also been booked for the big night. East Brook Boosters, last year's city-county champs, engage the tough Ellwood Vets in the seven o'clock action preview.

Tickets for the contest may be purchased for $1.00 per person at "Gus" phanis store on Washington street, Y. M. C. A., Solomon's News in Mahoningtown and Marlin's Furniture on Long avenue. Better get yours now.

Petchel Leader In Yards Gained

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 27.

Penn State's star seatback, Elwood Petchel, of Easton, led the Nittany Lions in total offense during their 1948 season of seven wins, one loss and one tie. The little fellow picked up 737 yards via air and land.

Most effective operator along the ground was Fran Rogel of North Braddock, who posted a total of 623 yards in 152 carries for an average of 4.0 yards per try. Second best was Wally Tripplett of LaMott, with a ground total of 424 yards.

Longest Run Tripplett, former Cheltenham high school hero, also owns the season's longest scoring run, an 86-yard punt return against West Virginia, while he also turned in touchdown runs of 54 and 47 yards against West Virginia and Syracuse, respectively.

Sam Tamburo of New Kensington was on the receiving end of 17 passes good for 301 yards and three touchdowns, followed by Tripplett, who pulled in six passes good for 90 yards and one touchdown. Tamburo, Petchel and Tripplett are seniors, while Rogel is a junior with one more year of competition in front of him.

Eagles Tenpin Loop Ends In Deadlock

The first-half has ended in the Eagles tenpin league and there exists a tie between the Secretaries and Conductors, with the first-half title being settled Tuesday at 7 o'clock at the Castle alleys. McCracken is captain of the Secretaries and Dom Christopher captains the Conductors. A hot battle is anticipated.

Eleven different Penn State players won attention on various all-state and all-opponent football sections in 1948.

Star Backs Lead Oklahoma, North Carolina In Sugar Bowl

Battle of quarterbacks will feature the Sugar bowl game in New Orleans Jan. 1 when Jack Mitchell of Oklahoma and Charlie Justice of North Carolina line up with their opposing teams in one of the grandest games of the day. North Carolina finished the season undefeated but suffered one loss while Oklahoma lost but one game, to Santa Clara. Other stars in this game may be North Carolina's End Art Weiner and Tackle Len Sasafaryn and Oklahoma's Buddy Burris and Lindell Pearson.

Insisting Rickey Sell Interest In Dodgers Or Give Up Grid Game

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, reportedly has been ordered by other co-owners of the baseball and football clubs to get rid of his football interests immediately.

This news came from a source close to the Dodger baseball operations and the import of the situation can be summed up by the alleged demand that Rickey either drop football or sell his interests in the Dodgers.

His fellow-owners in the Dodger operations are said to have pointed out to Rickey that money can be made with baseball in Brooklyn, but that no further proof of professional football's failure there is needed that a glance at last season's books.

The amount dropped on Rickey's venture into the All-America Conference is estimated at between $300,000 and $350,000.

Rickey owns a one-fourth interest in the Dodgers—including the red-spattered football Dodgers—but the latter were taken on strictly because he insisted and last season's loss has brought the operations to a show-down.

As a result of this Brooklyn rhabarb the All-America Conference will be forced to realign its clubs for the forthcoming season. The Dodgers definitely will not be a part of the circuit but may wind up in some sort of consolidated with the New York Yankees.

The latter is a guess based on several facts and rumors.

Sign Kussnerow One of the stand-out facts in recent Dodger maneuvers came with the signing of Lou Kussnerow, Columbia University's star back, for an undisclosed sum.

In reply to queries as to what the Dodgers wanted with a half-back when they do not plan to play football the guess is that he will be placed into a player pool which will be cut up when the Dodgers drop out.

It is regarded as strictly a move to enable the Dodgers to recoup some of their losses through as yet unrevealed future transaction.

It all adds up into the finish of professional football in Brooklyn—perhaps forever.

The baseball source which discussed the various entanglements pointed out that Brooklyn never caught on while a member of the National League and sank deeper in the All-America Conference.

Current instability of the latter circuit has helped to bring about the Brooklyn show-down, and among people close to the situation there still is doubt that the All-America will go again next season.

However, separate player drafts were held by the two leagues yesterday just as though there will be no change next season.

That the Dodgers will be out is a certainty; that the Boston Yankees of the National League will not operate in Boston is equally sure.

Exactly what will happen remains the big guess, and probably no one can answer the question now.

Sam Tamburo, Penn State's all-America end, will join other college seniors for the all-star Hawaii football games at Honolulu January 5 and 12. The New Kensington youth will go to the coast from the North-South game at Miami Christmas night.

Black Hawks Trim Rangers

(By International News Service)

The high flying New York Rangers came down to earth today—grounded by the Chicago Black Hawks.

Chicago ended New York's skein of six straight games without a loss by handing the Blueshirts a 2 to 1 defeat before 15,925 National Hockey league fans at Madison Square Garden last night.

Detroit climbed back into first place by downing Montreal 3 to 1 before a motor city crowd of 13,853 fans.

Pittsburgh Losses In the American league, Providence increased its first-place standing over Hershey by downing the Springfield Indians 5-2.

New Haven's Ramblers turned in a 2-0 whitewash of the Washington Lions in another contest which saw the Lions' goalie make 51 saves.

Two other loop contests saw Buffalo defeat St. Louis 5-3, while Pittsburgh was edged out 5-4 by St. Louis.

17 Bowl Games On New Years To Draw 600,000

By CHARLES EINHORN

(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Attendance at the 17 New Year's day college football bowl games Saturday will be the greatest since man started spending his morning after out of doors.

Granted a favor or two from the weather, which has been downright unfriendly in many bowl places the past two years, the total crowd output will exceed 600,000. More than 80 per cent of that total will be concentrated into nine king-sized arenas.

Until a few of the major bowl game amphitheatres go through with their plans to double deck themselves, the Rose Bowl will remain the great uncle of all New Year's day sports. Even if Michigan were playing Southern California again, the place would sell out—and with Northwestern and California coupled as this year's exciting attraction, an overflowing Rose Bowl is a certainty.

Expect Sellouts

Such a fact is not calculated to cause a rash of suicides among the promoters of other leading Jan. 1 spectacles. This year's Sugar Bowl encounter, bringing together the monstrous eleven of North Carolina and Oklahoma, couldn't hold another person unless he can play tackle.

The same holds true for the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, where Oregon and Southern Methodist collide, and for the Orange Bowl at Miami. The latter instance occasioned some grumbling, when it evolved that three-beaten Texas was the best foe that could be found for Georgia's Southeastern Conference kings, but the disappointment of fans, such as it was, could not be ascertained at the gate, for the Orange Bowl is a sell-out again.

East vs. West

Other stirring attractions in other bowls have built up similar spectator reaction. The joints will be jumping in Memphis, where Oklahoma A. & M. and William and Mary quarrel at the Delta Bowl; in Birmingham, where Wake Forest confronts Baylor at the Dixie Bowl; and in San Diego, where Villanova and Nevada collide at the Harbor Bowl.

Television Has Sports Promoters In Dither

By CHARLES EINHORN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Armchair video viewers of sports events may lose their "box seats" if anxious promoters have their way.

Its biggest scare since the plague and prohibition, or at least since radio. And now that pro baseball and football have had their say, the colleges are about to take their whack at television.

This action will occur early next month at the National Collegiate Athletic Association meetings in San Francisco. Several conferences, including the Big Ten, have deferred their own rulings on video until they see what the NCAA decides.

Big Headache
Television of football games will be the chief worry. How, it will be asked, will gates be affected by telecasts within the immediate area? By rebroadcast at a later time? By networks?

Pro baseball's answer to the problem was a shivery one. The minor leagues came out dead against television, and passed a rule prohibiting the telecasting of any game from any transmitter save one located within a 50-mile radius of the ball park.

The theory there was that the horizon will protect the working man.

The Majors, who have hundreds of thousands of dollars tied up in the exploitation of television, could not, of course, agree to go along with that proposal. But during the Major League meetings in Chicago, one influential big-time magazine said:

"I look at those empty seats in the ball park and I think of all those people sitting at home like kings with their television sets... and Brrr!"

Television Hurts
Pro football's answer came from both the National and All-America circuits. The Nationals, especially on the East, were hurt badly by television during the 1948 campaign. The All-America's, reviewing the situation at their Cleveland meeting last weekend, said merely:

"Effect of television on gate receipts was not favorable."

Joe Louis' boxing contracts stipulate that television, in any form, must be barred from his fights.

Meanwhile, like the magic box that kept turning out salt even after it fell to the bottom of the sea, manufacturers keep turning out television sets.

After all, they reason, people have gotten used to salt water.

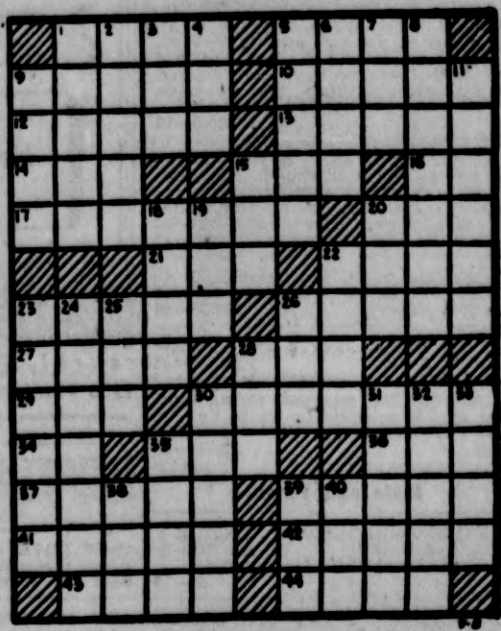

Penn State's once-beaten football team averaged 309 yards per game on offense during the 1948 gridiron season.

Donohoe Resigns Tech Coaching Job

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Applications were being accepted for one of the most thankless jobs in the world today at Carnegie Tech. Both the football and basketball coaching berths were wide open.

Athletic Director Clarence (Buddy) Overend in a surprise move said Sunday night that no successor has been chosen to succeed William W. Donohoe who resigned in a letter dated December 6. Donohoe who had held both jobs since 1946, will continue with the athletic department until July 1, 1949.

The resignation caught Pittsburghers by surprise because Donohoe's job at the completely de-emphasized engineering school was considered absolutely "solid".

Rifle Club To Shoot Tonight

The New Castle rifle club will have a league shoot tonight at the Armory range at 8 o'clock with the Beaver Valley rifle club. The locals were defeated by the valley team earlier this season and are out to get revenge. Ellwood City leads the league at the present time, being undefeated to date.

Cerdan, should be able to take any of our leading middleweights on the basis of what he did to Zale.

HIGHEST PRICE

Highest price ever paid for a yearling race horse was $75,000 that Eastland Synd paid for New Broom. The horse never won a race.

In the all-time Geneva-W. & J. series the Presidents hold a win advantage. They have defeated the Covies 24 times, lost nine games and tied the Genevans twice.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

CHICKEN HAWKS are proving quite a nuisance nowadays, one having been killed Friday by Ronald Heinemann, R. D. 8, which causes Attorney Charlie Davis to be hopeful that another soon will be disposed of. Charlie, like many other kind-hearted folk, places food for birds to survive the winter. Every morning when the birds collect to partake of their food, down swoops a hawk and clutching a bird in its claws, soars upward and distant. . . . Tonight will be a gala one for the New Castle WPIAL football champs and the Cross-Country team, winners of the WPIAL championship. They'll be feted at the Elks club by BPOE No. 69, where each will receive a handsome watch, after which there'll be dancing in the Cathedral. . . . Tommy Leach of the Jefferson Athletic club is making preparations to stage an amateur boxing tournament here between Lawrence County boys who wish to engage in the punching pastime. All one need do is to visit Tom or write him, giving his name, age and weight. If necessary a trainer will be assigned to condition the boxer. He intends to promote the tourney some time in late January. . . . Connie Mack of the Phila. A's celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday Thursday and said that "Santa Claus could do him a favor by bringing him a 'long ball hitter'." . . . Jim Leonard, former college and pro grid coach, is said to have applied for the coaching berth at Duquesne U. . . . Six foot, six inch Vince Boryla, center, for Denver U., was the leading collegiate scorer, according to the National Collegiate Athletic bureau. He boasted an average of 25.8 points per game for four years. He was a member of the Olympic squad as a member of the Denver Nuggets of the A. A. U.

File Cross Suits In Accident Case

Accident On August 2, 1948,
Cause Of Three Suits
For Heavy Damages

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Three suits have been filed in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar, arising out of an accident on July 2, 1948.

Pasquale Zona, administrator of the estate of Frank Zona, files two suits against the Edward Chadderton Trucking company of Sharon for a total of $46,068.50. Joseph C. Macri, driver of the Chadderton truck which hit the Zona car, files a suit against Pasquale Zona for $3000 damages to his truck.

The accident was one in which the truck and passenger car came together on Route 18, near the lead off to New Wilmington. Both actions claim the other driver was at fault.

Pasquale Zona files one suit for $11,068.50 in his own behalf as father of the deceased Frank Zona. Another suit for $35,000 is filed as administrator of the estate.

BUS COMPANY SUITS

Two suits have been filed against the Shenango Valley Transportation company for injuries sustained while riding buses of the company.

Michael Herman files a suit for $10,288. He claims he was a passenger on a bus on December 20, 1946. At Mill and Washington streets he alighted from the bus and slipped on a step he claims was icy.

Dolores Dickson, a five-year-old girl by her guardians, Alfred and Katherine Dickson, files a suit for $3000 against the bus company. She was in a bus going west on Washington street west of the public square when the bus hit a taxi. The little girl was thrown forward to the floor, breaking her shoulder.

ONE SENTENCE

One pre-Christmas sentence was handed down by the court. Judge W. Walter Braham fined Rex P. Cable $100 and costs and 30 days to the county jail for driving while intoxicated. He will be released in three days if the fine and costs are paid.

William S. Burdette, sentenced to 4 to 6 months in the county jail on morals charges December 1, was paroled for two years by Judge John G. Lamoree upon payment of a fine of $1 and costs.

Introduce Cobalt To Fight Cancer

Colorado Engineer Believes It
High Time For Myth About
Texas To Be Exploded

COLUMBUS, O.—(INS)—Medical science's newest weapon for fighting cancer is cobalt, termed the "poor man's radium" because of its availability.

The use of cobalt in cancer treatment recently was revealed by the Ohio State university medical school. Cobalt, it was stressed, is not a cure but is a more versatile and cheaper substitute for radium.

Six patients treated with the metal cobalt—made radioactive at the Oak Ridge atomic oven—have shown good results, the school reported.

Announced Last April
Discovery of the radioactive cobalt method was announced last April by Dr. William G. Meyer after he had conducted a series of experiments on rabbits and mice.

Dr. Meyer first thought of conducting cobalt experiments when he was observing the Bikini experiments with the atom bomb.

He pointed out that cobalt is inexpensive and plentiful and that it will not "leak" as radium has been known to do.

Many Items Made In Pittsburgh Area

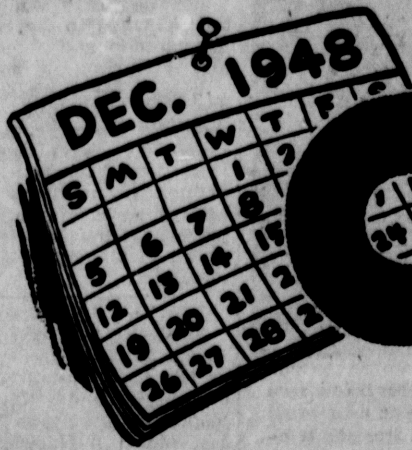

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—More than 6,500 different commodities are manufactured in the Pittsburgh district.

The long list, compiled by the Allegheny County conference on community development, begins with "abrasives" and ends with "zirconium," a rare metal.

Other items include literally everything from soup to nuts—the nuts being both the edible kind and the steel or brass type.

In addition to all kinds of steel products, the list also includes such diverse items as "attempers," "keldah" apparatus and "snake bite outfits."

Oh, yes, and they're still making ear trumpets in Pittsburgh.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27.—Jimmy Stewart, after considerable research and experimentation, has learned how to limp.

It was a requirement of his top role in the "rope". The script doesn't mention a game leg, but Director Alfred Hitchcock figured

We'll leave your hair as it is—a little gray at the edges. And we'll give you just a slight limp."

Coming Apart

When the lanky star first tried limping, he appeared to be coming apart at the joints. Two other actors, John Dall and Farley Granger, and even the portly Hitchcock, offered demonstrations. Stewart studied them and developed a proper limp on his left foot.

But in rehearsal for one reel of the co-suspense thriller, the actor's subconscious almost literally tripped him. In the midst of difficult lines and carefully timed movements, he began limping on the wrong foot.

"You gotta have a reminder," said Scotty More, the property man.

Makes Star Wince

Scotty found a small ball-bearing and pnt it in the star's left shoe. It reminded Stewart all right, but it also made him wince.

"With this," he grumbled, "all I want to say is 'Ouch!'" Now it was Stewart's turn to offer a solution. During the lunch hour he sent his left shoe to Warner's wardrobe department with a request for a quarter inch to be taken off the heel.

It worked like a charm without having to give it a thought, Stewart limped just right.

"Marvelous!" exclaimed the director. "That's real acting."

"Elementary, my dear Hitchcock," said Jimmy Stewart.

Not Encouraging

To the question she is most frequently asked by young people hopped-up with ambitions to act,

Bette Davis' impulsive answer is usually, "Don't."

Her 15 years of stardom have brought thousands of queries from kids who want to know what is the most-likely-to-succeed road to a movie career.

Bette said today: "I always want to tell them to stay home and be grocers or druggists or housewives. But I usually end up by encouraging them to try anyway."

The Warner star, now working in her 56-motion picture, "June Bride," says that despite discouragements and heartbreaks, when a person is once attacked by a genuine desire for an acting career, there's nothing much that can be done to dissuade him.

TOWN EVACUATED

BELLE COTE, N. S.—Society note: The entire population of Rear Belle Cote left town yesterday for the winter. Two-fifths of the citizens—Mr. and Mrs. Arsene Leblanc—moved to Margaree, N. S. Another two-fifths headed for Sydney. The other one-fifth came here.
